BERLIN-VIENNA CUSTOMS PACT HIT AS MENACE

Erection of Tariff Wall by Nations Is Urged in French Chamber.

MAY IMPERIL PEACE OF CENTRAL EUROPE

Full Details of New Trade Accord Awaited; U. S. Marking Time.

(Associated Press.)

These are the latest developments in the projected Austro-German customs accord:

In Paris the customs committee of the Chamber of Deputies recommended erection of a general tariff wall against Germany and Austria by other European nations, and renunciation of French treaties with both countries.

Arthur Henderson, British foreign secretary, said he and Aristide Briand had agreed it would be best to withhold definite pronouncement until the Austro-German proposal could be examined by the League of Nations council.

Sees Menace to Peace.

The Czechoslovakian foreign minister characterized the accord as a menace to the peace of Central Europe, and the Roumanian minister demanded the text of the agreement.

The German press was unanimous in indorsing the government's attitude, and Vienna, perplexed by the storm of opposition, took what comfort it could from the fact that no protest had been registered from the United States.

Paris, March 26 (A.P.).—Striking at the Austro-German trade accord, the customs committee of the Chamber of Deputies proposed today a general customs agreement among all European nations except Austria and Germany.

Favors Submission to League.

Meanwhile, Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson told the Associated Press the British and French governments were agreed that the contemplated treaty should be submitted to the League of Nations to determine whether it violates the Geneva protocol under which France, Italy and Czechoslovakia guaranteed a loan to Austria.

Inasmuch as the Geneva pact was negotiated under the auspices of the league, he said, it was difficult to see how Austria could refuse to submit the matter to that body. The pact specifically provided, he added, that Austria should enter no agreement which might jeopardize her economic as well as her political independence.

Contingent on actual execution of the German-Austro treaty, the French customs committee advocated the erection of a general tariff wall against the contracting nations and the renunciation of existing treaties between France and both of them.

Vigorous Protest Urged.

The resolution urged that Foreign Minister Aristide Briand and Minister of Commerce Louis Rollin protest vigorously the Germanic program, affording the two nations an opportunity to reconsider their course before taking definite action.

SPRING WHEAT PLANTING TO BE LEAST IN YEARS

Farmers Plan Smallest Crop Since War; Cut Is 14 Per Cent.

FURTHER REDUCTION LIKELY TO FOLLOW

More Feed Grain to Take Lead in Some Parts of Country.

(Associated Press.)

Wheat farmers, suffering from overproduction at home and abroad, intend to plant one of the smallest spring wheat crops since the World War.

This was disclosed yesterday in an Agriculture Department estimate that farmers intend to plant 14.7 per cent less than last year. This reduction exceeds the hopes of the Farm Board, which announced Monday it would nto make stabilization purchases of the 1931 crop. The board hoped for a cut of only 10 per cent in spring wheat.

The department's report showed farmers intend to sow 23.9 per cent less durum wheat and 12 per cent less other spring wheat. These figures, however, may be altered by weather, price or labor conditions, and do not necsesarily represent the acreage which will be actually planted.

Further Cut Expected.

A further curtailment may result from hte Farm Board's decision not to buy surplus stock, thus thrusting full responsibility of stabilization upon the farmers.

Joseph B. Becker, a member of the crop reporting board, computed on the basis of available figures the total of the 1931 wheat crop, including spring and winter varieties, at 3 per cent less than last year.

The report showed that from the present prospects for winter wheat, farmres expect to harvest 20,759,000 acres of the 42,042,000 planted last fall.

C. C. Teague, vice chairman of the Farm Board, commenting on the spring wheat report, said he was "very much pleased," and expressed the opinion farmers have come to realize responsibility for better market prices lies with them. He reiterated the board hope for a 20 per cent reduction in wheat planted this spring and next fall.

Durum Cut One-Fourth.

The department said in its report that if average departures from intentions are made this year, the durum acreage for harvest would be 3,599,000, about three-fourths of the 1930 acreage, and slightly more than half the record 1928 acreage. In past years acreage of other spring wheat has slightly exceeded the acreage intended.

If the usual changes are made this year, the department said, 14,083,000 acres, or slightly more than 80 per cent of the 1930 acreage, would be harvested. This would be the smallest since 1917, with the exception of 1924.

The report showed farmers generally planned to plant substantially larger acreages of feed grain, potatoes, sweet potatoes and peanuts than were harvested last season, but intend to sow smaller acreages of flaxseed, rice and beans.

Intentions were expressed to cut a

Commissioners in Session Today Likely to Pass Traffic Changes

Shifts, If Approved, to Become Effective in Ten Days.

Three Zones Mapped Out For Application of Varying Rules.

District Commissioners, at their semiweekly meeting today, likely will give immediate approval to a series of new traffic regulations submitted to them yesterday afternoon by Traffic Director William H. Harland and Assistant Director M. O. Eldrigde.

Comprising fourteen typewritten pages, the recommended changes pertain solely to parking in central business area and contiguous thoroughfares, where three zones have been mapped out for the application of varying rules during certain hours. If approved by the Commissioners today, they will be advertised and in comformity with the law made effective ten days later.

They follow closely the parking recommendations made to the District Commissioners last October by the traffic advisory council with the concurrence of Dr. Miller McClintock, traffic specialist of Harvard University.

"These recomendations will be followed by others for changing the present left-hand turn at intersections, the right-of-way rule and rules of the road, and such other regulations as to bring the District regulations into conformity with the national code prepared by the National Conference of Street and Highway Safety," Mr. Harland explained.

He announced that in all probability these further recommendations will be compiled for presentation to the Commissioners early next week. When approved, they also would be made effective 10 days later, in order to give the District a traffic code resembling in the main existing codes in the greater number of cities throughout the nation before July 1, when the enlarged traffic code of the District becomes law following an act of Congress at the last session. The terms of that legislation call for the

The exception is to permit only the loading and unloading of passengers or merchandise during this hour and one-half. One hour parking will be permitted from 9:30 o'clock in the morning until 6

BURKE, SOUGHT IN 12 KILLINGS, CAUGHT IN BED

Desperado, Wanted in Moran Gang Massacre, Taken in Missouri.

MADE CAPTIVE BEFORE HE CAN REACH FOR GUN

St. Joseph, Mo., March 26 (A.P.).—Fred Burke, known as the most dangerous criminal in America, because of his alleged wholesale murders and robberies, was captured without a struggle today.

At a farmhouse near Milan, Mo., four St. Joseph policemen, a sheriff and a rural constable surprised the killer in bed. He surrendered without a shot being fired. Word of his arrest sent Chicago detectives racing to St. Joseph by automobile in the hope of being first to claim the prisoner.

They carried warrants which charged Burke with being the assassin who lined up seven Moran gangsters in a Chicago garage on St. Valentine's Day, 1929, and riddled their bodies with machine gun fire.

Michigan Seeks Gangster.

Meanwhile Prosecutor W. N. Cunningham and Sheriff Fred Cutler left Benton Harbor, Mich., in an effort to return him to stand trial for the slaying of Policeman Charles Skelly on December 4, 1929, at St. Joseph, Mich. Burke is charged with a dozen or more murders and robberies totaling at least a million dollars.

The capture which ended a Nation-wide search for the man so badly wanted that $90,000 in rewards have been offered for his apprehension was the result of a farmer's observation, E. M. Mathews, chief of the St. Joseph police, said.

Noticing that Burke displayed bills of large dehominations and never left his automobile when visiting neighboring towns, the farmer reported his suspicions to the Department of Justice which requested St. Joseph officers to investigate.

Seized by Officers.

Officers armed with machine guns rushed into Burke's room at dawn this morning, and seized him before he could reach for his gun on a nearby chair. The officers found $765 in Burke's clothes.

Burke apparently believed he was to be meted gang vengeance. He expressed relief when he found his captors were officers instead of gangsters.

Brought to St. Joseph, he was identified by B. T. Andrews, superintendent of the Bertillon department. Burke first gave his name as Richard Franklin White, but later admitted his identity, officers said.

The gangster had been hiding at the home of his father-in-law, Barney Porter, since last November, officers said. However, he made several trips to Chicago.

Burke Phones Chicago.

Burke talked from the St. Joseph City Jail by telephone with John Norton, Chicago chief of detectives. Officers reported that he told Norton, "I am not a damn bit afraid to come back to Chicago."

In another telephone conversation with an Omaha newspaperman, Burke was reported to have denied participation in the robbery of a Lincoln, Nebr., bank.

The gangster, said to be possessed of a mania for murder, grad[illegible] from the Eagan rats school o[illegible] in St. Louis. After the St. Va[illegible] massacre his trail became obscure. Nearly a year ago it was discovered he had been hiding in St. Joseph, Mich., where he killed Charles Skelley, a traffic officer, to avoid paying a farmer $5 to repair a fender on his car.

Machine Gun Found.

It was in his St. Joseph bungalow officers found the machine gun which ballistics experts said fired the shots that riddled the Moran gangsters.

63 PUPILS TO TAKE "LIVING FLAG" TOUR

Children Chosen to Represent All Factors Constituting U. S. Emblem.

Inquiries have been received as to whether the two Washington high school students selected in the contest now being conducted in the public and private high schools of the city by the United States Flag Association and The Washington Post are to be the only two children taken abroad. Officials of the Flag Association explained yesterday that 63 children are to make the trip, representing a "living flag." One child represents the flagstaff, one the field of blue on which the stars are placed, 48 represent the stars and 13 the stripes, making up all the factors that constitute the flag of the United States.

Interest in the essay contest through which the two Washington high school students are to be selected for the trip to London and Paris continues unabated according to reports from the United States Flag Association, sponsoring the contest, with the cooperation of The Washington Post. Teachers from the various schools report that practically every boy and girl in their respective departments are engaged in the contest and that The Washington Post is a conspicuous part of the school equipment of each one of them.

Students are reminded again that the essays must be in the hands of the teachers by noon on Tuesday, as the task of marking these papers in time to announce the winners from

COURT BAR IS ASKED IN LADY ROSS' SUIT

Attorney Says Charges Not Proved and Brought On Humiliation.

Assailing the action of Lady Patricia Ross in spreading on the minutes of the District courts allegations contained in an unsuccessfully prosecuted divorce action two years ago, former Representative Wallace Dempsey, attorney for Sir Charles L. Ross, yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to dismiss the suit instituted here in February by the titled English woman.

The attorney declared the allegations in the English suit had been unproved through six years of litigation that finally brought the matter to the attention of the House of Lords. Mr. Dempsey said that his client, manufacturer of the famous Ross rifle, used extensively during the World War, should never have been subjected to the humiliation of having those "unproved" charges brought up now.

The wife's suit was also attacked on the grounds that both Sir Charles and his wife were aliens and not subject to the jurisdiction of the local courts. He also asserted that the "ne exeat" clause in Lady Patricia's suit, which prevented the nobleman from leaving Washington pending a settlement of the case, was illegal because Sir Charles was paying alimony and was therefore beyond the reach of such a writ.

At the time, Sir Charles was taken into custody by Deputy Marshals John J. Clarkson and Harold Scott and was kept in a room at the Wil-

BUDGET CUT IS SEEN AS DEFICIT RESULT

Bureau to Lay Data Before Hoover for Basis of Year's Estimates.

When President Hoover returns from his voyage to Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands, the Bureau of the Budget will be prepared to lay before him data on which to base the policy to be followed in the preparation of Government estimates for submission to the new Congress at its regular session in December.

Material reduction in the estimates submitted by the various Government departments and bureaus is expected next year, in view of the prospective $700,000,000 deficit with which the Federal Treasury will be confronted at the close of the current fiscal year.

Budget Bureau officials already are at work on calculations based on this prospective deficit, and these calculations will be laid before the President by Col. J. Clawson Roop, director of the Budget Bureau, whenever the President is ready to take up the subject.

What the effect of the deficit will be on the amounts asked of Congress in the estimates of the various departments and other governmental agencies will depend to a considerable extent on the policy which the President will adopt.

Determination of his policy is not a matter especially pressing for an immediate decision, in view of the fact that the next estimates do not have to be submitted to Congress until December, but at least a preliminary forecast is expected to be handed the President by the Budget Bureau soon.

Director Roop yesterday informed Government departments that their estimates shall be submitted not later than September 1. His order did away with the so-called preliminary estimates which have been a part of the regular routine of budget making in past years.

Col. Roop said, however, that the extension of the time for submission of estimates to September 1 instead of by July 15, the date fixed for the last estimates, had nothing

American Citizen Falls Heir to Office in Turkey

Evanston, Ill., March 26 (A.P.). Whether to be just a plain American citizen or Mayor of Kombugie, a Turkish town with 2,000 inhabitants, was a question that Ollie Smile was unable to answer today.

Mr. Smile, a real estate man whose name used to be Ali Riza Smile, said he had fallen heir to Kombugie, a suburb of Istanbul by the will of his uncle, Bey Hamde. "If I decide to be mayor, I'll have to give up my American citizenship and that's just what I do not want to do."

He said his brother, Hilme, was now acting as superintendent for him.

PICKETTS MAY REST IN ARLINGTON GRAVE

Relatives, Irked by Refusal of Richmond Authorities, May Move General.

Remains of Gen. George E. Pickett will be removed to Arlington Cemetery, there to be interred with the ashes of his late widow, if the wish of relatives meets with the favorable approval they anticipate from the War Department.

Irked at the refusal of the Ladies Hollywood Memorial Association, in charge of the soldiers section in Hollywood Cemetery in Richmond, Va., to allow the ashes of "Mother" Pickett to be placed beside the remains of the famous Confederate calvary leader, relatives conferred with Assistant Secretary of War Frederick H. Payne regarding the new plan.

Lieut. George E. Pickett 3d., grandson of the famous couple, said that he would confer again today with Secretary Payne and that in all probability he would make an announcement regarding disposition of the remains.

"For a long time I have wanted to move the general's body to the Confederate section of Arlington, and the action of the Ladies Hollywood Memorial Association crystallized this intention," he said. He said there was a remote possibility that his grandmother had an agreement with the Richmond organization never to

ALIEN TREK TO U. S. IS CUT 86 PER CENT

Inflow Slashed in 5 Months in Order to Preserve Jobs for Americans.

(United Press.)

A high wall against immigrants, set up at President Hoover's order to conserve what jobs there were for Americans, has shut out 86 per cent of the foreign inflow in five months.

The White House, in a statement last night, disclosed that immigration has been slashed by administrative action almost to the point proposed by Senator David A. Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, who campaigned vigorously but unsuccessfully in Congress for a 90 per cent reduction.

The action was taken under a provision of existing law, not previously enforced strictly, directing consuls in foreign countries to refuse immigration visas to persons "likely to become a public charge."

Under this, only 10,277 visas were issued to immigrants from 21 major countries, whose total quotas under the imigration law would have been 74,233 for the five months. From the other 46 smaller quota countries, a reduction of 90 per cent is indicated by early reports.

Canada, Mexico and Central and South America, whose natives are admitted without quota, have been cut similarly by stern interpretation of consuls of the same rule.

Immigrants from Canada were decreased 76 per cent; from Mexico, 95 per cent. During the five months, visas for admission were given to 3,876 Canadians and 884 Mexicans.

Previous to this order, immigration from quota countries was nearly the limit allowed by law, about 160,000 yearly. Under this enforcement it is likely that not more than 15,000 will be admitted per year.

From Canada, 15,997 were admitted in the five months of last year, corresponding to the period in which the new Hoover order has admitted but 3,876. From Mexico the slash has been from 19,336 to 884, indicating that for the year, from all countries, the total immigrants will be around 50,000 instead of the usual 250,000.

Reports from consular officials, who now carefully examine each applicant, show that visas have been denied to 96,883 aliens who normally would have been admitted.

Calvin Coolidge Says:

Many charges and some revelations in relation to the government of some of our large cities are appearing. It may be wondered whether these conditions were in any way a development of an era of prosperity and easy money which brought about an official complacency and laxity in the observance and enforcement of the law.

Whatever the cause, two things should be remembered. There are hundreds of thousands of public officials in the Nation who discharge their duties in an intelligent and conscientious way. No reason exists for any general condemnation of our Government. And what is more important, when cause has been shown both public officials and large bodies of private citizens have come forward in an effective way to secure investigation of charges and prosecution of wrongdoing. The moral power of the community has asserted itself in a wholesome and encouraging way. A few evildoers attract a great deal of attention. But the great body of the law-abiding people in and out of office, unnoticed in their well-doing, are still the determining force in this country. Nothing has occurred to diminish our confidence in the soundness of our governmental structure or our faith in the people.

Judge Sellers Denounces, Then Upholds School Law

Man Is Found Guilty of Keeping 12-Year-Old Son From Classes in Violation of Attendance Rule; Sentence Then Is Suspended.

The District's compulsory school attendance law was upheld and at the same time denounced by Judge Kathryn Sellers in the Juvenile Court yesterday, when she found Edgar White, father of Earl Stanley White, 12, guilty of violating it. Mr. White was given a five-day sentence.

Shortly after finding Mr. White guilty, Judge Sellers asserted she considered the act unconstitutional and suspended sentence.

The case attracted much attention when it first came up last year. The boy, it was shown, had a "school fixatino" and would frequnetly return from school crying and hysterical. Ohter children of Mr. White were quite natural in their adaptations to schooling.

The boy remained away from school for 63 days and his father was brought before Judge Sellers in December, 1930. The case was eventually taken up to the District Court of Appeals, with Assistant Corporation Counsel Thomas G. Walsh representing the District and John B. Fitzgerald the parent. The appeals court dneied the petition for a review and the case went back the the Juvenile Court yesterday. When Mr. White presneted himself for sentence his attorney attacked the attendance law on the ground that it gave to the Board of Educatoin the power to declare what was a msidemeanor. Judge Sellers overruled the attorney and said that she had no authority under the law to define a legal excuse for keeping a pupil from school.

Issue of More Taxes Looms for 2 Parties

Borah and Norris Assail Loan Proposal to Meet Mounting Treasury Deficit and Point to Need of Increased Levies.

(United Press.)

Increased taxes rather than new Government loans to meet the prospective Treasury deficit were demanded yesterday by two Republican Progressives, Senators William E. Borah, of Idaho, and George W. Norris, of Nebraska.

Their declarations were taken as indicating a determination to force this unwelcome question on the two major parties during the next session, with all of the embarrassments attendant upon such a proposal on the eve of a presidential election.

Senator Norris voiced what is likely to become the opinion of the Progressive bloc he heads yesterday when he said inheritance taxes seemed to be the preferable field for the increase.

This method of taxation has become much more important in recent years than it was a decade ago, Mr. Norris said. He referred to the statement that 80 per cent of the wealth of the country is now concentrated in the hands of 4 per cent of the population.

Norris' remarks were supported by Senator Borah, who had previously predicted that a tax increase was inevitable, but that the major parties would avoid the issue until after election. As an alternative to the inheritance tax Borah favors an increase in taxes on higher incomes.

"The theory of taxes, I understand it, is to place the burden on those best able to pay them," Borah said.

Although the Treasury had not admitted so far that a tax increase will be necessary, the stand taken by the two leading Progressives would seem to indicate that the issue may be forced from that quarter.

Those closely allied with the administration have indicated that they believed an upturn in business during the year 1931 will make an increase unnecessary. Some Democratic leaders, notably Senator Cordell Hull, of Tennessee, have taken the mounting deficit as a cue to demand governmental economy and the abolition of many of the commissions which have been created in recent years to handle various forms of activity.

These two stands indicate that neither major party will readily admit the necessity of tax increases and that they at least will attempt to avoid them by any possible means.

Man, Who Hit Banker, Flees Court, Caught Again at Bank

Lawrence Callahan's Insistence in Cashing Check Lands Him in Toils.

Now it's just in again, out again, Callahan.

Lawrence Callahan, 30 years old, couldn't get a bank to cash a check for him after banking hours so he hit a banker on the nose. His arrest followed.

Yesterday he was found guilty by Judge Ralph Given in Police Court for being drunk and disorderly. He was escorted back to the prisoner's dock to await trial for hitting B. Agee Bowles, on the nose, while at the Potomac Saving Bank to cash his check.

When the assault case was called, Callahan was missing. The place in the dock he had occupied was vacant. The building was searched—no Callahan.

A source of grief was that Callahan's $15 fine on the lesser charges had not been paid. A bench warrant was issued.

The Seventh Precinct police, who arrested Callahan originally, heard

Since becoming the object of a widespread search, Burke had changed his appearance by growing a mustache. It covered a scar on his lip noted in a description of the gangster broadcast over the country.

Crash Injuring 43 Starts 3 Probes

Train at Charlotte Runs Into Street Car Loaded With Laborers.

Charlotte, N. C., March 26 (A.P.).—The crash of Southern passenger train No. 11 into a crowded street car here early today, injuring 43 persons at a crossing equipped with safety gates, tonight had set in motion three separate investigations in an effort to place the blame.

Authorities of the Southern Railway Co., the local street car company and public officials sought to determine why the crossing gates were raised while the car, loaded with early risers on their way to work, rolled directly into the path of the locomotive as the latter crossed West Trade street into the yard of the Southern passenger station.

Twenty-six of the injured were reported "resting well" by the hospitals to which they were taken. The other seventeen suffered injuries not requiring hospital attention. None is expected to die. Of the victims 36 are Negroes.

Akron, Ohio, March 26 (A.P.).—Paul F. Kassay, 37, Goodyear Zeppelin mechanic, indicted for alleged threats to damage the Navy airship Akron, was released from county jail under $40,000 property bond late today.

At the same time Common Pleas Judge L. S. Pardee announced April 2 as tentative date for Kassay's trial. The accused man tonight is scheduled to address a protest meeting in his behalf arranged by International Labor Defense.

Twenty-two Akron signers for the necessary $40,000 property bond were obtained some hours before Kassay's release but two of them delayed his release by failing at once to furnish the warranty deed or statement by county auditor required as proof of property ownership.

Girls' Attackers Guarded in Jail

9 Men, Identified by Victims, Taken to Another Prison by Soldiers.

Scottsboro, Ala., March 26 (A.P.).—Nine Negroes charged with attacking two white girls on a freight train near here yesterday, were taken from the Jackson County jail under military escort this afternoon, and removed to Gadsden, Ala., for safekeeping.

The removal was ordered by Judge J. A. Hawkins, of Jackson Circuit Court, after a conference with Maj. Joe Stearnes, in command of a detachment of 80 National Guardsmen ordered here last night when a mob threatened to storm the jail.

Judge Hawkins previously had issued a call for a special session of the grand jury to convene Monday to investigate the charges against the Negroes, all of whom have been identified by their victims, two girls, from Huntsville, Ala., aged 17 and 21 years. The Negroes will be given a preliminary hearing on Tuesday.

at all to do with the deficit. The longer time was allowed department heads, he said, to give them time to get a more accurate account of their operations in the current fiscal year before making their estimates.

Estimates for the next fiscal year, he pointed out, were required to be filed with the Budget Bureau within fifteen days of the close of the last fiscal year, and in such a short time it was impossible for department heads to get all the details they should have on the activities of the year which closed June 30 last.

Col. Roop refused to discuss the probable effect of the deficit on the total permitted the various departments for their estimates to be submitted in September, declaring that the policy which shall be followed is to be determined by the President, and the policy of the President may be affected by important economic developments between now and the date by which it will be necessary to fix the limit each department and agency may ask of Congress.

EXTRA SESSION DRIVE IS MET BY BAD NEWS

Group to Make Plea Before Hoover on Return, but Hope Is Waning.

(Associated Press.)

Bad news was all members of organizations advocating an extra session of Congress heard yesterday as they resumed a campaign begun last Monday.

They visited Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican national committee; Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, and Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho.

The delegation plans next to call on President Hoover after he returns from the Caribbean to urge a special meeting.

Benjamin Marsh, secretary of the People's Lobby, who headed the group, said Congress should be at work on unemployment, while Mrs. Laura Peffer Morgan, of the National Council for the Prevention of War, urged that the Senate be convened to ratify the world court protocol.

Senator Borah told the group he favored an extra session, but saw no way to bring one about, adding it was clear "the President does not think one necessary."

Mr. Shouse said the responsibility rested with President Hoover and that he did not intend to make any recommendation to the Chief Executive.

The group was told by Mr. Lucas that he personally was opposed to an extra session and that he believed business would make more progress toward recovery if Congress did not meet until next December.

Chieftain of Band Killing Villa Safe

Barraza Alive, Unharmed, Although Reported as Being Shot.

El Paso, Tex., March 26 (A.P.).—Jesus Salas Barraza, leader of the band that slew Francisco "Pancho" Villa, is alive and unharmed near Chihuahua City, Gen. Miguel S. Gonzales, commander of the Juarez military garrison, said today.

Barraza left Chihuahua City a few days ago and is now with friends in a nearby town, Gen. Gonzales said, adding he is "absolutely sure" Barraza has not been shot, as friends in Mexico City feared.

Gen. Gonzales said Barraza had been given a permit to carry three guns and 400 rounds of ammunition to Chihuahua City from Juarez, but that Barraza was told to obtain permission in Chihuahua if he intended to transport them further. While in Moctezuma, Barraza was detained in connection with the possession of arms and ammunition but later was given his freedom.

When he was stopped at the Detroit-Windsor border some weeks ago his case excited considerable public comment because not only did the United States refuse him entry, but Canada also.

Battleship Develops Engine Trouble.

Philadelphia, March 26 (A.P.).—The battleship Pennsylvania, which left here Tuesday for a shakedown cruise in the West Indies after spending nearly two years at the Philadelphia Navy Yard undergoing modernization, is returning. It was said at the navy yard the battleship was returning to have some engine trouble adjusted.

DRY ACT AID DENIED BY QUARTER OF U.S.

Federal Government Faces Added Enforcement Load in Another State.

(United Press.)

The Federal Government faces the problem of enforcing prohibition upon nearly one-fourth the population of the United States without assistance from State statutes if Gov. Louis L. Emmerson, of Illinois, signs the repeal of that State's enforcement code passed by the Legislature.

Antiprohibitionists yesterday cited census and internal revenue statistics to indicate the proportions of the movement for repeal or modification, while the Antisaloon League and the Association Against the prohibition amendment clashed verbally over the significance of the Illinois situation.

Counting Illinois, the States without enforcement laws have a total population of 29,917,013 out of 122,775,046 in the continental United States, according to the 1930 census. The other States in this group are New York, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Maryland, Montana and Nevada.

According to a statement from the national headquarters of the Antisaloon League, "individual States have nothing to gain and everything to lose by failure to maintain adequate State enforcement laws," so long as the eighteenth amendment remains.

"The repeal of the State enforcement law while the eighteenth amendment is a part of the Constitution is neither sound in principle nor sensible in practice," declared a league statement referring to the action of the Illinois Legislature. "The State continues to be subject to the Constitution and Federal statutes while lack of State prohibition legislation increases and intensified the evils of liquor that result from failure to enforce the law."

Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, viewed the Illinois development as a demonstration that "in the long run the people rule."

Curran cited the overwhelming vote against prohibition in the Illinois referendum last November and asked:

"Will the Governor of Illinois defy the 2-to-1 wish of the people of his State, or will he do his duty and sign the bill?"

"The people of Illinois have now joined the people of Massachusetts, New York, Maryland, Wisconsin, Montana and Nevada in repudiating national prohibition by doing away with their State Volstead acts," Curran said. "Our country's progress toward relief from this odious prohibition amendment is steady. Relief will come sooner than many expect."

Murder of New York Trooper Believed Solved

McAlister, Okla., March 26 (A.P.).—Stanley Chero and William Schermnet, Broughton, Pa., confessed late today, police announced, that they killed Sergt. John Frey, of the New York State police.

Their confessions detailed a trail of banditry from the Atlantic Coast to Oklahoma, where, with their funds exhausted, they sat along a roadside in their automobile with but 4 cents to purchase gasoline.

Mother Brings Aid For Jailed Beauty

Parent of Husband Slayer Arrives in France With Much-Needed Cash.

Cherbourg, France, March 26 (U. P.).—Carrying funds for her destitute daughter, Mrs. James R. Nash, of St. Louis, mother of Mrs. Fred G. Nixon-Nirdlinger, awaiting trial at Nice for the killing of her husband, arrived today on the liner Aquitania. She was accompanied by her son, Wesley.

Fog delayed the ship and Mrs. Nash missed her connection for Nice. She can not reach her daughter now until Saturday.

Mrs. Nixon-Nirdlinger, St. Louis beauty prize winner, had only about $60 in cash when arrested. Her two children have been reported in need of food, although their father, elderly Philadelphia theater magnate, was wealthy.

Italian naval discussion and the proposed Austro-German customs accord.

While almost complete silence was maintained the two questions were linked together by some officials.

Secretary Stimson discredited all attempts to attach more than casual importance to the "technical difficulties" reported from abroad in connection with drafting the Franco-Italian naval accord.

Simultaneously, however, the Secretary announced the cancellation of his engagement to speak over the radio tomorrow night on the naval question.

Will Await Full Text.

Meanwhile, he said, he would follow his previously announced intention of not speaking on the naval question until the entire text was received.

During the day, he conferred with several members of the diplomatic corps, including Ambassador Von Prittwitz, of Germany, regarding the proposed Austro-German customs agreement. He declined to disclose the nature of the conversations. It was known, however, that the Secretary maintained a noncommital attitude so far as the United States' policy was concerned on the economic aspects.

Col. Stimson hinted that a formal statement of the American position might be made after an official text of the proposed agreement is received from Europe.

Three-Power Navy Treaty Agreed On

Britain, France and Italy Conclude Discussions in Harmony.

Paris, March 26 (A.P.).—Discussion of final details of the Italo-Franco-British naval treaty ended today and Arthur Henderson, British foreign minister, announced that there were no fundamental differences of opinion among the three nations concerned, but only questions of "interpretation" to be decided.

The French morning press had said that difficulties were being encountered in working out details of the accord and in making it conform to the London naval treaty.

"We have reached the position where the three countries concerned are agreed," Mr. Henderson said tonight. "Naval experts are working on the final draft of the treaty in London, and it will be completed Monday or Tuesday."

Hoover's Party Discusses Destroyer Dupont's Fiasco

Commander Kieffer Hailed as First Man to Break Date With President.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

Aboard the U. S. S. Arizona, en route to Hampton Roads, Va. (by air mail).—The chief topic of conversation on this vessel has been the failure of the destroyer Dupont to keep its rendezvous with the Arizona or, one might say, with President Hoover.

To the day he retires, Lieut. Comdr. Henry Kieffer, the skipper of the Dupont, probably will be pointed out as the man who broke a date with the President.

For a time it looked like Commander Kieffer had pulled a boner, but the evidence would indicate that what happened to him might have happened to any destroyer commander.

LIEUT. COMDR. HENRY KIEFFER.

Native of Pennsylvania.

A native of Pennsylvania, Commander Kieffer went to the Naval Academy in 1908. His classmates on the Arizona recall that he was the champion tumbler of Annapolis and a prince of a fellow to boot. In the World War "Hienie," as his friends call him, served on a destroyer that guarded troop ships against German submarines.

A couple of weeks ago, while he had the Dupont at Guantanamo, Cuba, Commander Kieffer received orders to pick up the Arizona 500 miles off Palm Beach, Fla., on the morning of March 21.

The meeting of the Dupont and the Arizona was to be one of the most colorful incidents of the President's voyage, and the cameramen on board the Arizona were looking forward to it with avidity.

Planned to Join Taylor.

According to the program, the Dupont was to fall in with the destroyer Taylor, which had come down with the Arizona from Hampton Roads. Then the two destroyers, with their crews lined up at the rails, were to put on full speed and circle the Arizona. The President was to salute them as they passed.

On the morning of the 21st, President Hoover was out on the quarterdeck at 9:30 o'clock. So, too, were the members of his party.

Capt. Charles S. Freeman, skipper of the Arizona, had his sailors and marines out on the deck, ready to go through the ceremony of manning the rail. In this, the sailors and marines line up along the rail and form a cordon around the ship.

Arizona's Men Wait.

At 10 o'clock approached, the ship's officers made ready for the ceremony. The order to man the rails went down the line, and the sailors and marines carried it out in double-quick time. In a few minutes, President Hoover would walk along the deck and inspect them. First, however, he must stand by and salute the destroyers Taylor and Dupont.

Yes, but where was the Dupont? Here the hour for the ceremony had arrived, and the Dupont had not even been sighted.

President Hoover, standing in a blazing sun, chatted with Secretary of War Hurley and Secretary of Interior Wilbur for a while, then he walked around a while, and, finally, he went below to his quarters. A little later, no word having been received from the Dupont, it was decided to go through with just a part of the program.

Accordingly, the President went up on deck again and inspected the men.

Dupont 5 Hours Late.

Not until five hours later did the Dupont put in an appearance. In the midafternoon she came out of the northeast and cut across the Arizona's bow to join the Taylor. By this time, however, it was too late for her to go through with the ceremony of circling the Arizona.

In the period between the hour when the Dupont was supposed to meet the Arizona and the hour when she finally did meet her, the officers' wardroom buzzed with talk about the missing destroyer.

"Wonder what Kieffer's alibi will be?"

"If I were Kieffer, I wouldn't try to give an alibi. I would turn pirate."

Imprisoned by Weather.

The truth is that Commander Kieffer got a bad break in the weather. A thick mist hung over the Caribbean, one that made it almost impossible for him to shoot the sun and determine his position with any degree of accuracy.

Moreover, Commander Kieffer did not know the exact position of the Arizona. The weather also was responsible for this. Like Commander Kieffer, Commander C. L. Best, the Arizona's navigator, had been unable to penetrate the mist and get the clear view of the horizon that navigator must get in order to determine his position.

In his radio messages to the Dupont, Commander Best could only give his approximate position.

Then, on top of all these difficulties, the Dupont's radio broke down.

President Hoover, who has refused to let anything worry him on this trip, took the whole incident in a good-natured fashion and those close to him believe that he would be sorry to see Commander Kieffer suffer as a result of it.

HOOVER FAVORS POLICY OF CONTINUING ISLAND AID would relieve the Federal Government of the cost of their maintenance.

As the Arizona steamed north though a calm sea, the President gave considerable attention to the problems of the island groups he has visited in the past week.

The following statement on Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands was made by President Hoover at a press conference:

"The people of Porto Rico have made magnificent progress in self-government and the establishment of Democratic institutions. The government is ably conducted by Porto Rican-born citizens, and there are today only three or four important officials upon the island who were not born there. I am advised from every quarter in the island that there would not be a popular vote of 5 per cent in favor of independence.

"The people are making progress from the effects of hurricane, drought and the business depression, all of which were imposed upon a century-old poverty. They are showing great courage and initiative in this rehabilitation. They will this season in large degree have recovered their crops.

"The devastating effect of the hurricane is still represented in the thousands of one-room shacks housing whole families. The most constructive contribution of the Federal Government is to continue and expand the present policies of aid to and cooperation with their institutions in education, health, better adaptation of agriculture and expansion of industry and markets.

"The Virgin Islands may have some military value sometime. Opinion upon this question is much divided. In any event, when we paid $25,000,000 for them we acquired an effective poorhouse, comprising 90 per cent of the population.

"The people can not be self-supporting, either in living or government, without the discovery of new methods and resources. The purpose of the transfer of the administration from the naval to a civil department is to see if we can develop some form of industry or agriculture which will relieve us of the present costs and liabilities in support of the population or the local government from the Federal Treasury or from private charity.

"Viewed from every point except remote naval contingencies, it was unfortunate that we ever acquired these islands. Nevertheless, having assumed the responsibility, we must do our best to assist the inhabitants."

The President remained in his cabin during the morning drill, in which the portside guns were trained on the destroyer Dupont, 7 miles away. No firing was done.

Mr. Hoover, later, laughingly watched Secretary Lawrence Richey fishing in the ship's wake for dolphin, his spoon hook jumping through the waves at the end of a 300-foot rope. The battleship's officers invited the President and his party to dinner on the quarterdeck. The deck and a large horseshoe table were decorated with gay lanterns and flags.

President's Wife Plans Auto Trips

Mrs. Hoover, Visiting Son in Asheville, to See Points of Interest.

Asheville, N. C., March 26 (A.P.).—Mrs. Herbert Hoover, here for a four-day visit, today made plans for several automobile trips through points of scenic interest in the western North Carolina mountains.

The President's wife came here yesterday to visit her son, Herbert Hoover, jr., who is here recuperating from an illness. She drove the last 150 miles of the trip from Washington, leaving the train at Salisbury, where the car was wating for her.

In her party are Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur, wife of the Secretary of the Interior, and Miss Susan Dyer, of Palo Alto, Calif.

Murder Charged In Six-Story Fall

Four Men Accused After Fatal Plunge During Dice Game.

Birmingham, Ala., March 26 (A.P.).—Warrants were sworn out today charging four men with murder for the death of Dennis O. Keith, 29, in a fall from a sixth-floor hotel room here Sunday.

The warrants were signed by W. B. Patterson, Birmingham detective, who said the death culminated a dice game in which Keith and six other men were participating.

Odis Stephens, of Atlanta, and Dave Brodie, Tom Renfroe and John Pollis, of Birmingham, were named in the warrants. Patterson said he had admissions from the men that Stephens and Keith engaged in a fight and that the latter fell through the window in dodging a rush at him by two others.

Robinson, Oddie Heroes In Saving 4 Fishermen

Panama City, March 26 (A.P.).—United States Senators A. D. Robinson, of Indiana, and Tasker L. Oddie, of Nevada, were today's heroes here for the part they played in rescuing four fishermen from a fuelless motor boat in the middle of Panama Bay.

When they were returning yesterday aboard a Navy tug from a fishing trip among the Perlas Islands, they spotted a man waving his arms from a launch in the distance. They notified the skipper of the tug, who put about and took the castaways aboard.

EUROPEAN BOYCOTT ON WHEAT ATTACKED

U. S. Joins in Heated Fight Against Proposal on Importation.

Rome, March 26 (A.P.).—The "bread baskets of the world" battled this afternoon against a proposed European boycott on imported wheat.

Presenting a united front against the proposal, made in an executive committee session yesterday, by delegates from European countries, declaring in favor of a system of preferential tariffs which would limit European trade in wheat to wheat which is grown in Europe, delegates of Canada, South Africa, India and Australia and two representatives of United States wheat growers, joined their causes today.

The meeting of the "big powers" of the wheat industry followed the general session of the world wheat conference this afternoon. It was held in the offices of Carlo Brebbia, one of the Argentine delegates. It lasted several hours and there was a heated discussion, embodying the views of the great exporting nations on the proposed European boycott.

It was decided to oppose strenuously any agreement, by European countries, for special tariffs which would militate against overseas exporters.

The delegates agreed to hold over the heads of the Balkan countries for the threat that, if they joined the boycott, pressure would be used to secure the abrogation of existing most favored nation treaties giving privileges to those countries.

The Europeans expected to present their views at tomorrow's meeting, with Roumanian Minister of Agriculture Madgears leading the fight. Real oratorical fireworks were expected in the conference by Saturday. Italian Minister of Agriculture Acerby this afternoon addressed the general meeting of the conference justifying the "battle of grain," for developing wheat production in Europe.

In his address to the conference this morning Premier Mussolini said that the world wheat surplus was largely due to the fact that people adopting higher standards of living, were eating less bread.

Change in Customs Forms Announced

Revision Is Made to Conform to Recommendation of Port Group.

Revision of customs forms and pamphlets to conform with recommendations of the New York Port improvement committee, appointed a year ago by Secretary Mellon to better customs conditions, was announced yesterday by Commissioner of Customs F. X. A. Eble.

After interviewing 3,200 transatlantic passengers and giving some 12,000 an opportunity to express their views, Mr. Eble has published a "general guide," detailing in layman's English information necessary for the traveler.

Some changes have been made in the "baggage declaration and entry" form, which now permits the customs officer to enter the wholesale rather than retail price of articles returned to this country, Mr. Eble pointed out. Bruce Barton, well-known writer; Col. Arthur Woods, of the President's emergency employment committee; Edgar Rickard, of New York; Newcomb Carlton, president of Western Union, and Felix Warburg, international banker, all cooperated in revising the forms.

ACCUSED MURDERER OF NURSE ARRAIGNED

Elliott Hathaway Enters Plea of Not Guilty to Strangling Charge.

Providence, R. I., March 26 (A.P.).—The extensive two-day search for Elliott R. Hathaway, 28, alleged strangler of Verna Russell, 20, attractive Fall River student nurse, ended today with his surrender to Attorney General Benjamin M. McLyman.

Several hours after Hathaway had given himself up at a North Attleboro (Mass.) hotel, he was arraigned in Newport District Court on a charge of murder in the first degree. He pleaded not guilty, and was held without bail.

After McLyman had questioned Hathaway at the Portsmouth State Police Barracks, he said that "from the evidence at hand it looks to me as if Hathaway strangled the girl in an effort to assault her criminally."

Body Found in Lane.

Miss Russell's bruised body was found in a Tiverton lane Tuesday morning, 10 hours after she left the Truesdale Hospital in Fall River, where she was a student, to go automobile riding with Hathaway, an intimate friend.

It was to have been a reconciliation meeting, the aftermath of a recent quarrel. Judge Max Levy, of Newport Court, continued Hathaway's hearing until April 3, when he indicated it would again be continued until April 10.

Hathaway is the son of State Representative Louis F. Hathaway, of Fall River. The attorney general said Hathaway retracted a story he told Vernon V. Galvin, a Fall River friend, of a holdup by two men in which Miss Russell was struck, and he told to "beat it." Galvin is under $5,000 bail as a material witness in the case.

No Statement Made.

McLyman said Samuel I. Jacobs, of Boston, Hathaway's counsel, gave him Hathaway's version of the evening with Miss Russell, but that he would not accept it until he received it directly from the defendant. No detailed statement of what Hathaway said under questioning was forthcoming.

At the Newport courthouse, a crowd of about 1,000 persons milled around in a driving rain seeking entry to witness the arraignment. Only about 100 succeeded. Others clung to windows, peering in on the proceedings.

Instead of the debonair young man whose personality had made him a social favorite in Fall River, Hathaway appeared ill at ease. His face was flushed and he fingered a brilliant colored necktie nervously.

It would cost $3,250 to send postcards to all the readers that can be reached any morning by Post Classified Ads.

INCREASE IN STAFFS OF TEACHERS ASKED

Finance Committee Surveys to Go to Superintendent of Schools.

Petitions from the Teachers Union for more teachers in junior and senior high schools, together with about 150 requests from citizens for school improvements, will be given a preliminary study by the finance committee of the Board of Education at a conference with Supt. of Schools Frank W. Ballou at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

The finance committee will then start work on drawing up the school budget, which will be presented some time in April to the board for approval. The estimates must be in the hands of the District Commissioners early in May.

Junior high school teachers sent their plea for more teachers to the Franklin Administration Building yesterday, following similar action by teachers in the senior high schools. The junior high school teachers ask specifically that enough teachers be provided in their schools, so that every teacher will be given a free period of 40 minutes each day.

The junior high teachers also asked for a study of extracurricula activities to determine which are worth developing. Assistant Supt. of Schools Stephen E. Kramer is now conducting such a survey.

Request was also made that credit be given study-hall assignments on the teacher's organization sheet. Separation of academic teachers from those in the school shops in the computation of the teaching load is also asked. The reason for this is the variance in the number of pupils taught by each type of teacher.

The teachers, in mentioning extra duties for which they are not given credit, also referred to meetings which they are expected to attend for discussion of the aims of the junior high schools, the development of civic, social, and moral responsibility; encouragement of recreational and esthetic participation and recreation, and the development of physical efficiency.

LABOR GOVERNMENT WINS EASTER TRUCE

Debate on Vote of Censure Waits as MacDonald and Baldwin Agree.

London, March 26 (A.P.).—Confusion in British party politics, carrying with it a possible threat to the life of the MacDonald government, is to continue at least until after the Easter holidays.

Prime Minister MacDonald and Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, tonight agreed to defer the debate on the vote of censure upon which the fate of the Labor government hangs until some time after Parliament reconvenes on April 14.

The Liberals will not finally decide their future policy toward the MacDonald government until after the prime minister answers Baldwin's attack in the debate over the censure vote.

Today's development included an important speech by Lloyd George to the Liberal party candidates. No vote was taken at the Liberal conference and the party's position remains unchanged.

Later in the day MacDonald and Baldwin had a passage at arms in the Commons over Baldwin's refusal to accept next Wednesday as the date for the critical debate and vote of censure. Baldwin maintained that the date was too close to the breakup of Parliament, which is fixed for next Thursday.

At the Liberal party meeting Lloyd George's opponents were out in force and maintained a running commentary during his speech, such as "Says you," and other American slang phrases brought over to London by the talking pictures.

WEST IS SHIVERING IN RECORD STORM

Snow, Ice and Zero Weather Halt Spring in States East of Mountains.

Kansas City, March 26 (A.P.).—Winter, whose reign during January and February had been disputed by spring, retaliated furiously in States east of the Rocky Mountains today.

Roaring winds, rising to 72 miles an hour, played havoc with communications facilities in eastern Wyoming, eastern Colorado, western Kansas, western Oklahoma and western Nebraska.

They drove a barrage of snow across railroads and highways, paralyzing traffic. Their icy breath sent the temperature down to low records for 1931, which threatened to be passed by new lows tonight.

Year's Severest Storm.

It was the most severe storm of the year in the ranch and range country of the West, but no lives had been reported lost and it was believed advance warning of the storm had averted otherwise enormous livestock damage.

Planes were grounded. Motor tourists were halted in their tracks. Schools were closed in rural sections. Thirty persons spent last night marooned in a dance hall at Eaton, Colo.

Rain preceded the storm as it moved inexorably eastward, and its advance warning caused States of the Mississippi Valley to prepare tonight for snow, sleet, rising winds and falling temperatures. Disquieting weather predictions brought fear for the safety of budding and blossoming fruit trees.

40-Degree Drop.

In territories swept by the storm today quick 40-degree drops of temperature were not unusual, and measured snowfall was as much as a foot. The high wind velocity of 72 miles an hour was registered at Parco, Wyo.

A temperature of 16 below zero was reported at Lead, S. Dak., 4 degrees below at Cheyenne, and there were zero temperatures in central Nebraska.

Great drifts of snow were piled up in the territory between Colorado Springs, Colo., and Phillipsburg, Kans., an area 150 miles wide.

LaGuardia-Norris Plan to Cooperate

Progressive Groups in Both Houses Will Hold Balance of Power.

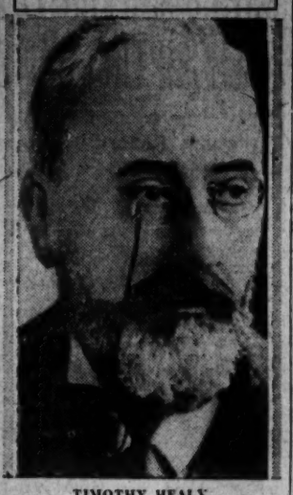
(Associated Press.)

Legislative cooperation between House and Senate Progressives, who will hold the balance of power in the next Congress, was pledged yesterday by Senator Norris and Representative LaGuardia.

Following an hour's conference, the Nebraskan and the New Yorker, both Republicans, expressed confidence that the legislative aims of their respective groups were in accord and included a complete understanding between the interests of the city laborer and the farmer.

They said the cooperation would not include any interference by the Senate Progressives in the organization of the House, or vice versa, but merely applied to legislation.

SUCCUMBS



TIMOTHY HEALY.

Tim Healy, Irish Statesman, Dead

Veteran Leader, 76, First Free State Governor, Ill Some Time.

Dublin, Irish Free State, March 26 (A.P.).—Timothy Healy, veteran Irish statesman and first Governor of the Irish Free State, died here at 7:30 p. m. this evening.

"Tim" Healy, as he was known not only in Ireland but throughout the world, was 76 years old.

He had been ill for some time, but throughout his sickness his doctors were reticent about reporting his progress. It was believed at first that he was suffering only from a very bad cold.

This afternoon his condition became suddenly worse, and his son, an attorney, was summoned from court to his bedside.

Fireman Slightly Hurt In Traffic Collision

Fireman James H. Catley, 38 years old, attached to No. 8 engine company, was injured slightly yesterday when the engine collided with an automobile at Canal and D streets southwest while answering an alarm.

The engine was operated by Samuel O. White, and it struck an automobile driven by Robert A. Maddox, of F street southwest near First street. Catley was taken to Providence Hospital for treatment for abrasions and a dislocated right leg. Maddox was arrested for reckless driving.

Claim Again Made Ship Owned in U.S.

More I'm Alone Evidence on Title Announced by State Department.

(United Press.)

Further evidence tending to show the Canadian-registered rumrunner, I'm Alone, was owned by Americans has been received by the State Department from the files of a Canadian sea captain, it was learned yesterday. His name was withheld for fear he would be killed in vengeance by a rumrunning ring.

At the same time it was learned that the State Department has suggested to Canada, through the American Legation at Ottawa, that this Government would like to know the names of the actual stockholders and operators of the Eugene Cresser Shipping Co., operator of the I'm Alone.

Officials here believe Canada's case will fall flat if the United States can prove the I'm Alone was registered in Canada merely as a blind and that Americans owned and operated the ship.

Plunkett Is Buried In Arlington Rites

Body of Rear Admiral Laid to Rest Beside Wife; Navy Men Present.

In the presence of his fellow officers and men of the United States Navy, the body of Rear Admiral Charles P. Plunkett, retired, World War hero and the recipient of many national and international honors, was buried in Arlington Cemetery yesterday by thte side of his wife, Julia T. Plunkett, who died in 1918.

The warrior, who was in charge of the fleet of trains carrying heavy guns to thte defense of Paris during a critical period in the war, died Tuesday night at the Naval Hospital after being ill about two years.

Services were conducted in the Fort Myer chapel by the Rev. Sidney Kay Evans, chief of the Naval chaplains, and the casket, draped with a large flag, was carried on a gun caisson from the chapel to the grave, located just below the Robert E. Lee home on the slope overlooking the Capital. Three volleys of rifle fire by six Marines, followed by "taps" played by a Naval bugler, completed the funeral service.

G. W. U. Women to Meet Debaters From Cornell

A debate between George Washington University and Cornell University women debaters, originally scheduled for March 13, but postponed on account of illness on the Cornell Team will be held here tonight at 8 p. m., in Corcoran Hall of the university.

The George Washington debaters, Bertha Kauffman, Genevieve Wimsatt and Louise Feinstein, will uphold the affirmative of the question, "Resolved, That the several States should adopt legislation providing for a system of unemployment insurance." Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin, wife of the president of the university, will preside.

INDIAN HORDE HEARS NONVIOLENCE PLEAS

Gandhi Directs Major Part of Speech to Restless Younger Natives.

Karachi, India, March 62 (A.P.).—Mounting a platform in the middle of the great open-air stadium where the Congress party is meeting, Mahatma Gandhi today held tens of thousands of Indians spellbound for an hour while he reiterated his creed of nonviolence.

When he had finished the tremendous audience stampeded out of the stadium and one old man was crushed to death. Several other persons were injured.

"No one can harm me," Gandhi had told them, "so long as it is God's will that I serve India. Gandhism will not die with me."

Addresses Young Friends.

He addressed himself particularly to his "young friends"—the extremists elements, composed largely of young men, which have developed bitter opposition to his policies.

Alternately he pleaded, cajoled and challenged, his voice remaining at a low, even pitch, but speaking with gripping intensity.

This morning there was a report Gandhi had told an interviewer he would withdraw temporarily from Indian politics if the Congress party should reject his truce with Lord Irwin. Later, deploring the race riots at Cawnpore yesterday, he expressed a hope the local leaders would restore peace quickly, for "at this delicate juncture the slightest thing will disturb our mental balance."

Riots Are Subdued.

Communication with Cawnpore was spasmodic today, but it was believed the situation was in hand, although rioting continued in outlying areas, with detachments of troops patroling the city itself.

Unofficial reports said 11 had been killed and 500 injured, but the latest official statistics from Delhi said only 49 had been killed.

Elsewhere there were no serious disorders despite high tension among the people, except at Chintimani in the Madras district, where five were killed and three wounded during a fight among high caste and low caste Hindus.

Cosmopolitan Club Hear Plea for Jury Service

An appeal to members of the Cosmopolitan Club to regard jury duty as a privilege and a duty as a means of raising the standards of juries in the District of Columbia was made yesterday by John R. Fitzpatrick, assistant United States attorney, in a talk to the club at its regular weekly luncheon meeting at the Carlton Hotel. Mr. Fitzpatrick spoke on "The Jury System of the District of Columbia."

Mr. Fitzpatrick said that jury duty used to be considered a privilege and an honor, and that because of the large number of exemptions in the District, due to the large percentage of the population employed by the Government, business men should again take this attitude toward this service and endeavor to do all in their power to help make it an improved success.

COMMISSIONERS ARE LIKELY TO APPROVE CHANGES TODAY

o'clock, with unlimited parking from the latter hour until 8 o'clock next morning.

Zone 2, which surrounds zone 1, is bounded on the north by L street, starting at Eighteenth street and running east to Fifth street, and thence along New York avenue to Fourth street; on the east by a line down Fourth street to I street to Sixth street and down Sixth street to Constitution avenue; on the south by Constitution avenue to Fifteenth street; on the west by a line along Fifteenth street north to New York avenue, west to Seventeenth street to G street, west on G street to Eighteenth street and north to L street.

From 8 Until 6.

The recommended restriction on parking there is one hour during the period from 8 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock at night.

Zone 3, surrounding the two other zones, runs from the intersection of New Hampshire avenue, Twentieth and N streets east along N street to Third street, south along Third street to Maryland avenue, in a westerly direction along Maryland avenue to B street southwest, west on B street to Fourteenth street southwest, north on Fourteenth street to Constitution avenue, west on Constitution avenue to Seventeenth street, north on Seventeenth street to F street, west on F street to Twentieth tareet, and north on Twentieth street to the starting point.

In this zone it is recommended that the restriction for parking be for a two-hour period during the hours from 8 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock at night.

The major object of the proposed changes is "to improve the parking conditions in the central business district and on the principal streets leading to and from that district and in the area surrounding it," Mr. Harland informed the Commissioners.

In transmitting the list of changes he made the following summarization:

"At the present time it is practically impossible to enforce the one-hour restriction in the congested area, with the result that cars are left in this area all day, making it difficult and often impossible for those who have business to transact or shoping to do to find a place to park.

"The proposed plan will, it is believed, be in the interest of the majority and will probably postpone the day when it may become necessary to prohibit parking altogether in the central district.

"This plan, in principle, was recommended by Dr. Miller McClintock in the extensive traffic survey which he made last summer of the parking conditions in the District, and it was approved by the Commissioner's traffic advisory committee.

"In order to bring about this change it has been possible to strike out many of the existing regulations regarding parking in the congested district, as these are covered in the blanket regulations relating to the various zones.

"On all streets where there is a restriction on the flow side from 8 to 9:15 a. m. this has been changed to 9:30. It is believed that this arrangement will improve traffic conditions on through streets and make the restriction easier to enforce.

Restriction Is Lifted.

"The flow-side restriction on Sixteenth street, south of Scott Circle, has been listed in these proposed changes, first, because of the difficulty of enforcement, and second, because Fifteenth street has been widened south of Massachusetts avenue since that restriction was first adopted, and is now carrying as much, if not more, traffic that lower Sixteenth street formerly carried. The flow-side restriction, however, on upper Sixteenth street, that is, from Scott Circle north, is retained.

"A paragraph authorizing public vehicles to park in restricted areas, such as the flow sides of through streets during restricted hours, has been eliminated. It is believed that this will improve conditions on such streets as Madison place, where hack stands are located.

"A paragraph which permits commercial vehicles to load and unload merchandise on the flow-sides of through streets during restricted hours is also eliminated in the interest of bettering traffic conditions on those streets."

New Traffic Light Will Be Tried Here

Connecticut Avenue Sigal to Stay Green Until Auto Approaches.

A traffic demand signal similar to that in operation in other cities will be installed for experimental purposes at Connecticut avenue and Albemarle street. The District Commissioners yesterday permitted the Automatic Signal Corporation, of New Haven, Conn., to install the equipment at its own expense and without any obligation by the District.

Should the test prove successful, the same sort of signal light will likely be installed at other more or less isolated intersections. The light will remain green for Connecticut avenue constantly except when an automobile approaches over Albermarle street.

Among the other intersections that may be so equipped if the light proves satisfactory are South Dakota and Rhode Island avenues northeast, Macomb street and Wisconsin avenue, Wisconsin and Massachusetts avenues, Twelfth street and Rhode Island avenue northeast, Georgia and New Hampshire avenues, and Sherman and New Hampshire avenues.

May Hearing in Foreign Buses Slated by P. U. C.

The Public Utilities Commission is planning to hold its frequently postponed interstate bus hearing in May in order to get everything in readiness to drive the foreign motor carriers out of the congested area shortly after the proposed new traffic law becomes effective on July 1, it was learned yesterday.

An order prohibiting interstate buses from loading and unloading passengers within the congested area will probably be drafted as a basis for the hearing, although it could not be enforced until the new fiscal year begins.

IRA DUTTON, FRIEND OF LEPERS, EXPIRES

Civil War Hero, Who Sought to Expiate Worldly Life, Dies in Honolulu.

Honolulu, March 26 (A.P.).—Ira "Brother Joseph" Dutton, 87, who sought to expiate a worldly life by humble service to the lepers of Molokai, died in a hospital here early today of old age.

Mr. Dutton's health had been failing for the past year. More than half his life had been devoted to the victims of the world's most loathsome disease when, his eyesight almost gone, he was brought here last July that a cataract might be removed from his left eye.

He never left the hospital again, although after several months he gained sufficient strength to sit in a wheel chair.

Impulse Was Mystery.

What impelled the dashing Ira Dutton, Civil War hero and successful business man, to forsake the world and seek atonement in a religious life was something he never told.

While the secret of whatever he regarded as his sins was locked within his heart, it was said his conversion at the age of 40 and his desire to become a religious worker were regarded with some doubt by the Trappist Brotherhood. The result was he remained through the rest of his life merely a lay brother, never admitted to full membership in the priestly order.

With his entrance into the church Dutton put behind him nearly everything relating to his past life. His comrades in the Wisconsin Infantry had known him as a ladies' man, fond of worldly pleasures. Two young lieutenants in the Union Army told ruefully how two girls had failed to keep "dates" with them—they saw the girls some hours later with Sergt. Dutton.

Never Contracted Disease.

Dutton kept his friendships with other Civil War veterans after coming to Hawaii and the leper settlement, but those were almost his only contact with the world which knew the first four decades of his life.

In the Molokai Colony he became a disciple of the martyr priest, Father Damien, who died of leprosy three years later, in 1889. Dutton never contracted the disease, although he lived 44 years in daily contact with its victims.

Until his eyesight failed, he kept pace with the world's affairs through a dozen carefully selected newspapers and magazines. His personal correspondence was one of his greatest joys. He remembered with a card and a bit of verse the birthday of each year of every one of his many friends, and the occasional visitor to the settlement always made pilgrimages to his little rough, board house.

First Municipal Center Contract to Be Awarded

The first contract authorizing the actual breaking of ground in the gigantic Municipal Center project will probably be awarded by the District Commissioners today to the Pennsylvania Drilling Co., Inc., of Pittsburgh, low bidder on the job of drilling holes to ascertain the depth and material for foundations.

Out of seven bids received on the job, the Pittsburgh concern was low with an estimate of $2,060 for drilling approximately 25 holes scattered over the site. The work will begin about April 15.

lard Hotel until he could post $100,000 bond guaranteeing his appearance in court here when wanted.

A Mexican divorce decree given the wealthy Briton several years ago was also cited as a reason for the lack of jurisdiction by the District courts. Mr. Dempsey decried the "dramatic and sensational manner" in which the provisions of his wife's suit had been carried out.

Edward Stafford, attorney for Lady Patricia, opposed the dismissal of the bill. He cited several authorities for his contention and for the allegations his client incorporated in her petition.

Justice Adkins, who heard the arguments, took the cause under advisement. He indicated that pending final settlement he would probably grant Lady Ross' request for additional monthly payments from her husband.

each school before the preliminary tests on April 11 is enormous. One boy and one girl from each school will be selected for this preliminary test, which will include the essays and written and oral examinations on history of the United States, the flag of the United States and other kindred topics.

More blanks have been printed, and any belated students desiring to enter the contest and prepare an essay before next Tuesday noon still has a chance to get an application blank. All instructions are printed on the blanks and any additional information can be obtained through careful reading of The Washington Post. Questions can not be answered at the headquarters of the United States Flag Association.

Invitation Group Named.

Announcement of the appointment of a Washington invitation committee, which will seek patrons for other boys and girls to act as "Envoys of Friendship" in addition to the high school boy and girl now being selected, was made yesterday by Col. James A. Moss, president general of the United States Flag Association. This committee will serve under the auspices of the Women's National Council of the Flag Association, of which Mrs. Herbert Hoover is honorary chairman and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge and Mrs. William Howard Taft are honorary vice chairmen, and of which all the ladies of the Cabinet are associate vice chairmen.

The invitation committee as announced yesterday, consists of Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, chairman; Mrs. F. Trubee Davison, Mrs. Henry F. Dimock, Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins, Mrs. Gibson Fahnestock, Mrs. Hamilton Fish, jr., Mrs. Henry Flather, Mrs. James Carroll Frazier, Mrs. Francis T. A. Junkin and Mrs. George Hewitt Myers, honorary chairmen; Mrs. Sidney A. Cloman, Mrs. Frederic A. Delano, Mrs. Charles A. Goldsmith, Mrs. Robert Guggenheim, Mrs. Frank C. Letts and Mrs. Mary Roberts Rinehart, honorary vice chairmen; Mrs. John Allan Dougherty, Mrs. James Lansburgh and Mrs. George Mesta, vice chairmen; and Mrs. Joshua Evans, jr., Mrs. Robert V. Fleming, Mrs. Cary T. Grayson, Mrs. Simon Kann, Mrs. Simon Lyon, Mrs. John Jay O'Connor, Mrs. John Poole, Miss Janet Richards and Mrs. Walter R. Tuckerman.

Women's National Council.

The Women's National Council of the United States Flag Association, under the auspices of which the Washington invitation committee will serve, consists of some of the leading women of the United States. In addition to Mrs. Herbert Hoover as honorary chairman, Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, sister of Vice President Curtis, and all the ladies of the Cabinet, Mrs. Henry L. Stimson, Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley, Mrs. William D. Mitchell, Mrs. Walter F. Brown, Mrs. Charles Francis Adams, Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Mrs. Arthur M. Hyde, Mrs. Robert Patterson Lamont and Mrs. William N. Doak, are associate honorary vice chairmen.

Mrs. John Hays Hammond, wife of the celebrated mining engineer, is active chairman of the Women's National Council, with Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, Miss Mabel T. Boardman, Mrs. Henry L. Doherty, Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, Mrs. Arthur Curtiss James, Mrs. Ruth S. Pratt and Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury as active vice chairmen.

While the children of today are to play the important roles on the world stage of tomorrow, and their friendships made now are to possibly influence the world events of the future, officials of the Flag Association point out, children must be guided, and the logical guide for the childhood of America is the country's womanhood, marshaled together always for that which is best. For this reason the Woman's National Council has been formed, and this band of patriotic women, it is stated, has had a far-reaching effect in getting the ideals of the association before the people of the United States.

FLAG CHAIRMAN

MRS. J. BORDEN HARRIMAN, chairman of the invitation committee for the U. S. Flag Association's "Envoy of Friendship" project.

Seminole Brave and Maid Wed in Weird Tribal Rite

Florida Indian Couple United as Chief Osceola and Warriors in Gaudy Costumes Stage Quaint Ceremonial Dances; Whites Pay Admission.

Miami, Fla., March 26 (A.P.).—While Seminole tribesmen chanted the weird mouthings and cries of the "screech" and "buffalo" ceremonial dances, Tihokee Osceola, 17-year-old Indian maiden, and Henry Cypress, stalwart brave of the tribe, pledged solemn vows of matrimony here today.

The two dances, never before seen by white men, were performed by a ring of gaudily costumed Indians, led by Cory Osceola, chief of all Florida Seminoles. They preceded a marriage ceremony that bound Henry and his new squaw, according to Seminole custom, to a life together, under penalty of disapproval of the Great Spirit. Other celebrative dances followed the wedding.

The ceremony was performed by Josie Billie, chief of the West Coast Seminoles, while the stolid Henry and bashful Tihokee held hands on a raised platform under a canopy of plaited palmetto leaves.

Chief Osceola, gay in festival attire and attended by solemn visaged councilors of the tribe, stood at one side during the chanted ceremony.

In front of the platform were fashionably gowned white women and curious white men—every one a cash customer at a quarter dollar a head, in the board fenced Indian village on Miami's outskirts.

As the ceremony was completed, the atmosphere of a carnival sideshow swept into the scene on the brazen blasts of an ultramodern and freely perspiring orchestra that blared the strains of "My Baby Cares for Me" and other tunes equally far in tempo from the fabled dirge-like chantings of Seminoles in the everglades retreats.

The newly wedded pair went through the ceremony a second time at the bequest of the white promoter who staged the event, in order that late arriving cash customers might have the worth of their money.

After the ceremony, they went to their new home at the Indian village here. Within a few days the two will go into the everglades in the groom's canoe, for an Indian honeymoon. During the honeymoon trip, Henry must prove to his bride that he is able and willing to provide for her. He must build shelter, and provide food, in accordance with the age-old customs of the Seminoles.

Bridge Contract Is Likely Today

$459,440 Is Lowest Bid on Proposed Connecticut Avenue Span.

The District Commissioners today may award the contract for construction of the proposed steel bridge to replace the present Klingle Valley Bridge on Connecticut avenue. The W. P. Thurston Co., Inc., was found yesterday to be lowest of nine bidders.

The Thurston Co. estimate of $459,440 was based on the original proposal to use stone instead of concrete abutments and was within the $470,000 available. These were the second bids received, all of the first set having been discarded because they exceeded the money on hand.

Several technicalities may prevent awarding of the contract, however, to the Thurston Co. In this case, it will probably go to the Charles H. Tompkins Co., which was next lowest bidder, with an estimate of $490,430; but the abutments will be concrete.

James Nolan Is Leader Of Club's Venetian Fete

The selection of James Nolan as chairman of the entertainment committee for the second annual Easter Monday Bal Masque sponsored by the Congressional Country Club was announced yesterday. This year's program will be in the nature of a Venetian carnival.

Chairmen of other committees are: Charles P. McGinley, costumes; Dr. O. U. Singer, decorations; William King, floor; James Meegan, judges, and Maj. William Garrison, chairman of the prizes committee. Dancing will start at 10 p. m. and last until 3 a. m.

PHYSICIANS PROTEST PRESCRIPTION CURB

Baltimore Convention Raps Federal and State Laws Banning Remedies.

Baltimore, Md., March 26 (A.P.).—A protest against Federal and State laws limiting the rights of physicians to prescribe drugs and remedial measures was voted today by the American College of Physicians.

A resolution embodying the protest was approved with but one dissenting vote at the business session of the annual convention. Members said their understanding was Federal and State prohibition and narcotic laws were aimed at, though the resolution was in general terms.

The resolution was introduced by Dr. Alfred Stengel, chairman of the resolutions committee, which gave it its unanimous approval.

Let Profession Be Judge.

The resolution recommended "that every legitimate effort be made to impress upon the members of Congress that unrestricted medical treatment of disease by properly licensed physicians should be granted, and that they should not be penalized on account of the misuse of medical methods by a very small percentage of so-called medical and nonmedical men.

"Let the profession be its own judge of how it can best treat the sick, and properly penalize those who flagrantly abuse their licensed or unlicensed trust."

A second recommendation was "that the fellows and associates of the college must become more active in medical legislation and join with their State societies in an effort to repeal inimical State laws now enforced and influence a higher type of medical methods for the future protection of the sick and those to whom their lives are entrusted."

Dr. S. Marx White, of Minneapolis, was inducted into the office of president, to which he was elected at last year's session, succeeding Dr. Sydney R. Miller, of Baltimore. Dr. Francis M. Pottenger, of Monrovia, Calif., was elected president for 1932. Next year's convention is to be held at San Francisco.

Research Demands Time.

It is increasingly necessary that many physicians spend all their time on scientific research without engaging in private practice, Dr. William H. Welch told the college tonight.

He said the field of medicine has become so broad and specialized that it is essential that some doctors devote themselves purely to the scientific side of the profession.

Dr. Welch was principal speaker at the annual banquet of the college. He is professor of the history of medicine at Johns Hopkins Medical School and is recognized among physicians as the "dean of American medicine."

Studies of the relation between disease and the human constitution were described in a lecture by Dr. Raymond Pearl, of the Johns Hopkins University School of Hygiene. The entire background of many patients' lives and ancestry is being investigated intensively there.

Dr. John R. Oliver, associate in the history of medicine at Johns Hopkins, described medical practices of ancient times that are still in use today.

CURRENT EVENTS IN VIRGINIA AND MARYLAND

YOUTH LOSES FIGHT AGAINST PNEUMONIA

43-Hour Administration of Oxygen by Firemen Proves Futile.

George Crompton, 17 years old, died yesterday at his home in Silver Spring, Md., despite a 43-hour battle by Washington firemen to save him from double pneumonia. He was the son of Lieut. R. D. Crompton, Engine Company No. 24, District Fire Department.

The Washington Fire Rescue Squad was summoned Tuesday afternoon when the boy's condition became precarious and he could not breathe. The firemen administered oxygen until about 2 o'clock Wednesday morning when they were told that the boy apparently was out of danger. About 6 o'clock they were recalled when a heavy fog caused a relapse and they remained at the youth's bedside from that time until 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning when he was pronounced dead by Dr. H. H. Howlett, the family physician.

The firemen administered 250 liters of oxygen and established a record for the time spent with a patient administering the life-giving gas.

The youth had been weakened by an accident two years ago in which his lung was punctured.

In addition to his father and mother, he is survived by Charles Crompton, a brother, of Washington, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Armentrout, of Takoma Park, and the following younger brothers and sisters, who live at the Silver Spring home: Katherine, Florence, David, June and John Crompton.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the residence. The Rev. Ralph Smith, of the Woodside Methodist Episcopal Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

7 Children Held May Be Released

Victims of Raid Are Likely to Escape Action on Charges.

Possibility that action may not be taken against all the children held Tuesday in a raid on a house in Cheverly Manor is seen, following a statement that the seven high school boys and girls are charged only with investigation. Although a hearing in the case will not be conducted until Monday, authorities have said unofficially that they do not see that a case can be made out of what evidence is known.

The three girls and four boys say that they were only dancing when county policemen descended on the home of Michael Sullivan, and it is also said that no liquor was found in the house.

Three boys and three girls were absent from high school, however, so that action under the truancy laws may be taken. The fourth boy was expelled from high school last fall after he was convicted of destroying school property.

Baltimore to Hold Self-Denial Day

Ballot Boxes and Planes to Figure in Relief Drive for Jobless.

Baltimore, Md., March 26 (A.P.).—Ballot boxes, airplanes, posters, bells and whistles are to be pressed into service here tomorrow—self-denial day—in a campaign to raise funds for unemployment relief.

To thousand invitations to "stuff the ballot box" were placarded tonight on as many vote receptacles placed about the city. Several airplanes are to circle over the city in the morning to scatter handbill appeals to contribute, and the bells and whistles are to sound at noon as a reminder.

Between $500,000 and $600,000 is needed to provide for unfortunates for the balance of the year, it is estimated. Last month, police and relief agencies reported, a total of 9,360 families were being cared for. Nearly $100,000 has been expended by the police this winter, of which $34,000 was raised by a motion picture benefit on one Sunday. Four extra days of racing at the four chief Maryland tracks, the first next Monday at Bowie, are expected to net $74,000 or more to the fund.

Episodes Recalled In Harding Regime

Senator Wheeler Replies to Republican in Row Over Tammany.

(Associated Press.)

Episodes of the Harding administration were recalled yesterday by Senator Wheeler in entering the current controversy over Tammany Hall.

Replying to a statement Wednesday night by Senator Jones (Republican), Washington, the Montana Democrat said Jones had "remained absolutely silent" during the "reeking frauds" while Harding was President.

Jones had charged that Chairman Shouse of the Democratic national executive committee had attempted to "camouflage the shortcomings of Tammany." It was one of a series of statements from Republicans and Democrats in the last few days.

REWARD INCREASED FOR LANE SLAYERS

Traction Company Adds $500 to $800 Already Offered for Killers.

The Washington Railway & Electric Co. yesterday increased to $1,300 the reward for information leading to the arrest of the two bandits who fatally wounded James H. Lane, a motorman, during a holdup on March 18.

Previously the company had posted a reward of $500 which was increased to $800 by the Police Department. The company authorized the additional $500 yesterday.

Mr. Lane was buried yesterday in Arlington Cemetery, after a high mass of requiem at St. James Catholic Church, Mount Rainier, Md.

The police of the Eleventh Precinct yesterday released two men they had been holding. They are Gussie G. Thompson, 19 years old, Oxon Hill, Md., and John E. Burch, 24 years old, of B street near Third street southeast.

Altering of Bus Route Is Opposed

Two Firms Score Proposed Shift of Rapid Transit; Claim Infringement.

The Capital Traction Co. and the Washington Railway & Electric Co. yesterday opposed application of the Washington Rapid Transit Co. to alter its route between Eighth street and Pensylvania avenue and the Lincoln Memorial on the grounds that the proposed course would infringe on their territory.

Edward D. Merrill, president of the bus line, explained his proposals at a hearing before the Public Utilities Commission, after which representatives of the street car lines stated their objections.

The proposed two new circuits of the Rapid Transit Co. follow: Lincoln Memorial, east on B street to Seventeenth, to State place, south of White House and Treasury to Pennsylvania avenue, to Twelfth, north to K, west to Fifteenth, south to H, west to Twentieth, south to New York avenue, to Twenty-third, to Lincoln Memorial. Lincoln Memorial to Twenty-third, to New York avenue, to Twenty-first, to Pensylvania avenue, to Eighteenth, north to H, east to Sixteenth, north to K, east to Thirteenth, south to Pennsylvania avenue, west to Treasury and around White House to Seventeenth, then south to B and west to the Memorial.

Court Overturns Mrs. Gunnell Will

Army Officer Wins Suit Over Disposition of Mother's Estate.

The will of Mrs. Harriet P. Gunnell, who died at Jamestown, R. I., August 22, was declared invalid by a jury in Justice Frederick L. Siddons court yesterday, which found that a daughter, Mrs. Mary F. Brooke, of New Orleans, La., had unduly influenced the making of the will.

A suit challenging the validity of the will was filed by Col. Joseph F. Barnes, U. S. A., who was left only $100 by the terms of the document. The sister had been left the premises at 505 Twentieth street northwest and personal property valued at $62,000.

The effect of the jury's finding will be to divide the estate between Col. Barnes and his sister, Mrs. Brooke according to the District laws. The case had been on trial for three weeks.

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., March 26.—Ritchie County authorities announced today the issuance of a first-degree murder warrant against Wilbur Hartness, 15, of Cairo, for the death of Paul Cornell, 8, of the same town, last night in a scuffle in an alley there between two groups of boys.

Hartness has been taken to the County Jail at Harrisville. Witnesses said Hartness kicked Paul twice in the chest and the latter gasped and fell dead, but following an autopsy doctors said three was no sign of rupture or other injury and that the child died of shock and fright.

Prisoner's Unique Tale Stirs Court

Unusual Story Explaining Taking of Auto Calls Hospital Into Case.

The usual somnolence of Police Court was somewhat ruffled yesterday when George L. Purvis, upon a charge of taking an automobile, explained to Judge Hitt that he had taken a small machine only because he couldn't find a larger one.

Several discourses in the realm of automobiles gave his honor some suspicions and a telephone call to St. Elizabeths Hospital did the rest. The man was identified as a fugitive patient, and the charges were dismissed. He was taken back to the hospital.

Purvis was accused of taking a machine belonging to John F. Carroll, of Seventeenth street near V street northwest. He was driving the wrong way on a one way street when an officer took him into custody.

Detective Upheld In Fatal Shooting

Mahaney Exonerated at Inquest in Death of Charles Macon Wesson.

Detective Michael J. Mahaney, of the Eighth Precinct, was exonerated of all blame yesterday by a coroner's jury that investigated the fatal shooting on January 16 of Charles Macon Wesson, 23 years old.

Wesson, the son of Lieut. Col. Wesson, former Military Attache at the American Embassy in London, died Tuesday night at Walter Reed Hospital. He was shot after a wild ride during which he fired promiscuously from a taxicab.

Mahaney fired at the youth when he is alleged to have pointed his gun at the officer.

TOBACCO ACREAGE REDUCTION ASKED

Governor of North Carolina Requests Cooperation of Virginia to This End.

Richmond, Va., March 26 (A.P.).—Gov. O. Max Gardner of North Carolina, in a telegram to Gov. Pollard today, requested cooperation of the Virginia executive in a movement launched to effect a reduction in the acreage planted to bright tobacco. Unless there is reduction, Gov. Gardner said, there will be a disaster for the growers in the bright belt.

"I most earnestly ask your cooperation," the telegram said, "in promoting a cut in tobacco acreage in each and every State of the bright belt. I shall do my utmost in North Carolina by radio, by statements to the press and other ways, and will get the active support of our State agricultural college."

At the same time Virginia growers of bright flue cured tobacco were warned against increased production this year by A. B. Carrington, of Danville, president of the Tobacco Association of the United States, in a bulletin carrying a synopsis of the bright tobacco situation throughout the country.

Mr. Carrington said that figures indicate plainly that too much bright tobacco is being raised and that continued large crops of bright tobacco will tend to bring about low prices.

Extra Day in Jail Given Smoker in Courtroom

A courtroom smoke cost William R. Howard one day in jail for contempt of court.

Howard had been sentenced by Judge Hitt to serve 15 days for intoxication and as he was being led from the courtroom, he paused, lighted a cigarette and continued to the prisoners' cell. Judge Hitt espied the smoke, called him back, and gave him an additional day.

FOUR YOUTHS GIVEN TERMS IN ROBBERY

Four to Six Year Sentences Imposed in Bethesda Holdup.

Sentences ranging from four to six years were imposed on the four youths who held up and robbed the Bethesda Pharmacy the night of Friday, February 13, in circuit Court at Rockville yesterday by Judges Robert B. Peter and Arthur D. Willard.

Jimmett Gold O'Brian, debonair 18-year-old leader of the gang, was sentenced to serve six years in the Maryland House of Correction. O'Brian took his sentence with a grin.

Charles Adkins, 26 years old; William Anderson Steelman, 20, and Willie Wiggs, 20, the other members of the gang, were sentenced each to serve four years in the Hous eof Correction. Adkins' mother brought tears of sympathy to the eyes of court attaches when she clung to her son for six minutes of kissing. She is a widow.

The four men pleaded guilty to holding up Dr. Charles Scherer with a pistol and robbing him of more than $60. As they left the drug store, they were set upon with a broom by County Building Inspector J. Fred Imirie, who separated Wiggs from the rest.

Wiggs was arrested by County Policeman Robert Howes while walking on the road nearby and gave the police of the Bethesda substation the names of the other three prisoners.

STINSON RITES ARE SET.

Railroad Man Will Be Buried Tomorrow in Glenwood.

Funeral services for James William Stinson, 76 years old, who died at his home, 20 Fenton street northeast, Wednesday afternoon, will be held at the late residence tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will follow in Glenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Stinson had been with the Baltimore & Ohio and the Washington Terminal for a total of 38 years, retiring from active service four years ago. He had been trackman in charge of the signal lights at the terminal. He was a native of Virginia and had been a resident of this city for the past 45 years.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Martha Johnson and Mrs. Francis F. Waters, both of this city, and one brother, Willard M. Stinson, of Philadelphia, Pa.

Brutal Treatment Of Patient Denied

Gallinger Officials Hint Gold Charges Imaginary; U.S. May Refuse to Act.

After an informal hearing, in which a number of witnesses from Gallinger Hospital were questioned, Assistant United States Attorney Michael Keogh yesterday indicated that he would refuse to issue charges in the case of Jake Gold, World War veteran, who charged that he had been brutally treated while a patient at the hospital.

Dr. Edgar Bocock, superintendent of the hospital, and several other officers of the institution were called to Mr. Keogh's office. They denied that Gold had been brutally treated and pointed out his nervous condition together with the information in the case that came from police.

Because of the patient's condition, it was said, some stern methods might have been utilized to insure proper treatment. The attendant mentioned by the veteran as having choked and slapped him was given a clean bill of health by hospital officials, who declared he had an excellent record and was a good worker.

CAPITAL BOYS HELD IN DYNAMITE THEFT

Are Seized at Belair, Md., as Detectives Hunt for Auto Thieves.

Two Washington detectives went to Belair, Md., yesterday for four colored men who were arrested there with an allegedly stolen automobile in their possession. While at Belair, they figuratively "killed two birds with one stone," for they recognized another car which was stolen here on January 2.

The second car was allegedly found in the possession of two Washington youths, Edgar McIntyre and Fred McIntyre, brothers, of 1 street near Fourth street northwest, who are being held at Belair in connection with theft of dynamite from the company that is constructing the Conowingo dam, and also for the alleged killing of fish by dynamite.

Detective Sergts. Joseph Sincavitz and Curtis Trammell recognized an automobile which had been stolen from J. R. Arcaro, of 220 Arthur place northwest. Edgar McIntyre is said to have admitted the theft of the car.

The detectives brought back with them from Belair four colored men who are charged with the theft of an automobile from Artaky H. Bakshian, a rug dealer, of 1625 Connecticut avenue northwest.

Those held are James Johnson, 19 years old, of E street, near Seventh street southwest; Eugene Jones, 17 years old, of G street, near South Capitol street; Robert Jones, 18 years old, of First street southeast, and Charles B. Herbret, 17 years old, of G street, near South Capitol street.

Eugene Jones and Robert Jones, according to to Detective Sergt. Connors, were released from Jessups Cut, the Maryland House of Correction, only three weeks ago, after serving time for an automobile larceny.

Man Who Twice Stole Is Slashed and Jailed

Twice is once too many, if the object lesson inflicted upon John Thomas, Negro, 30 years old, can be taken as a criterion. Thomas, according to Israel Milloff proprietor of a small store on New Jersey avenue near G street northwest came into his store for a second time Wednesday and grabbd a cap.

Milloff suspected such a move he told Police Court Judge Isaac R. Hitt, because the Negro, or at least a man who resembled him, had snatched an article a week ago and had run away. Therefore, Milloff had a meat cleaver handy, and when the Negro ran away with the cap he got a swipe in his back from the irate storekeeper. Thomas has eight stitches in his back and 60 days in jail to cogitate upon the whole affair.

ON BORROWED MONEY.

Another $100,000,000 is about to be added to the public debt to meet the demands of veterans for loans under the law that was passed over the President's veto. Secretary Mellon next week will offer 90-day Treasury bills "at a discount" to the highest bidders. Gen. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, has asked for $500,000,000 with which to pay bonus loans. Applications for loans are more numerous than had been expected. The number of applications has reached a total of 1,571,291. The average amount loaned on a certificate is $377.

Theoretically these loans will be repaid by veterans, together with interest. Actually, the repayments are expected to be very few. The country understands very well that the loans are practically a gift to the veterans, just as a large proportion of the money provided for drought "loans" is a gift to drought-stricken farmers. No one expects to see the Treasury reimbursed, and perhaps a large majority of the people do not wish to subject either veterans or drought farmers to hardship in repaying what they are borrowing.

So far as the taxpayer is concerned the advances to veterans are an increase of the national debt, which must be repaid with interest, whether the veterans repay the loans or not. Although the Government can borrow at low rates of interest, the sum total of interest runs into huge figures, all of which must be repaid from taxes.

The sums advanced to veterans substract from the amount that would otherwise be available for Government expenses. The Government must function hereafter for an indefinite period on borrowed money, with the public debt steadily increasing. If it should develop that the market can not absorb short-term notes a bond issue must be floated. The tax receipts for 1930 are far below the Government's expenses. The deficit on June 30 will be at least $750,000,000 from present prospects. Money must be borrowed to do the work that tax money was expected to do. Thus taxpayers hereafter must not only fill the hole made by the deficit, but must pay interest on borrowed money, besides paying sufficient in current taxes to keep the Government from incurring further debt.

Business men, big and little, are not encouraged to branch out when they see their own Government running into debt, with no assurance that the tide will turn toward a surplus. Where is the end? Prudent enterprise is apt to think twice before it makes new commitments, in view of the certainty that the Government will require heavier taxes. How much heavier are the taxes to be? No one knows. If prosperity should return the increased tax receipts would wipe out the deficit, but the return of prosperity is hindered when there is doubt as to taxation. The Government disbursement of immense sums of borrowed money adds to the burden resting upon all American enterprise. Over every industry hangs the threat of heavier taxes.

President Hoover, Secretary Mellon and many other economists believed that the distribution of borrowed money by the Government was not the best method of relieving veterans and promoting prosperity. They believed that avoidance of debt by the Government would reassure all enterprise, encourage all industries, and prevent the discharge of workmen, whether veterans or others. The acceleration of good times, in short, was deemed by them to be more to the advantage of veterans than the whittling down of their insurance by loans that would have to be made by Government borrowings.

Congress ruled otherwise, without taking note of the obvious fact that tax receipts for 1930 would create a big Treasury deficit. Now the Government is involved in flotations of notes and bonds, with receipts shrinking and the public debt increasing. The test of the Congress theory of veterans' relief is subjecting the Treasury to a heavy strain.

THE GLUT OF WHEAT.

The good judgment shown by the Farm Board in announcing that it would not attempt to "peg" the price of the 1931 wheat crop is somewhat offset by the more recent statement from Chairman James G. Stone that the board's policy in marketing the wheat now held will be governed to a large extent by wheat plantings this spring.

Farmers were notified that artificial stimulation of wheat prices would be withdrawn so that they would plant less. Now Chairman Stone intimates that even if less wheat is planted the farmers may not get the benefit of the curtailment. The board would take advantage of a small crop to put its storage wheat on the market. On the other hand, if acreage is not reduced, the board will probably hold back its 200,000,000 bushels. In short, the farmer faces a glutted market whether he curtails his output or does not. That gives him no encouragement to cut down the surplus, and probably he will not do so.

What to do with the vast supply of wheat that the Farm Board has withdrawn from the market is an enigma no less serious than the problem of curtailing production in accordance with domestic needs. It is reported that a good deal of this wheat has rotted in storage, and much more of it may do so before the board finds an opportunity to market it without seriously depressing prices. It does seem, however, that the board might use discretion in formulating its policy so that farmers who are really trying to hold their planting in check will not be discouraged.

TEN YEARS OF AIR MAIL.

Aviation has no better friend in this country than Walter F. Brown. As Postmaster General he is in the best possible position to render practical aid to the development of transportation by air. The growth that has taken place in the United States during the last ten years is largely due to the encouragement of the air mail by Postmaster General New, followed by Postmaster General Brown.

The entire air-mail map of the United States was revised and expanded last year, and from 14,561 miles of air-mail routes in 1928 they have now grown so that they would more than encircle the globe, or over 26,000 miles. There are today three transcontinental air-mail lines instead of one. When the first coast-to-coast mail line was opened in September, 1920, Government planes flew 653,764 miles to carry about 500,000 pounds of mail. Last year the air mail carried 7,500,000 pounds and covered a distance of more than 15,000,000 miles.

Ten years ago there were 271 airports in the United States, but no commercial air service. Private air-transport lines were still unknown. In 1920 there were about 1,000 commercial planes in this country. That number has grown to 10,000, and these planes can land in 1,657 airports. Today 116 different air-transport lines conduct regular flights over 47,992 miles of airways. They carry an average of 500,000 passengers a year, and it is estimated that individuals traveling by air for sightseeing or irregular trips have increased by 3,000,000.

This is a record of development for which the Postoffice Department is to a large degree responsible. Postmaster General Brown explains the aims of his department in succinct words:

> Believing that our national security is in large measure dependent on keeping pace with the other nations in aviation, our Government has set out to develop an economically independent aviation industry by popularizing air transport and air travel, so that the people of our country may acquire the habit of using air transport in the ordinary affairs of their lives—in traveling, in sending merchandise and communications—just as they have made a practice of using the railroad, the motorbus and the steamship. The burden of this responsibility rests, to a very great extent, at present, upon the Postoffice Department, with its air-mail contracts.

VIOLENCE IN INDIA.

A new peril has arisen in India. Gandhi's leadership is challenged. No event in recent months has so shocked the natives as the attempt of a young radical to slay Gandhi with a flagpole. Until recently all India has reverenced Gandhi as a "holy man" of the people. Confidence in his leadership has remained unshaken for many years. Gandhi has held the fate of India in the hollow of his fragile hands. He has turned India's millions from revolution and violence to passive resistance and civil disobedience.

If Gandhi's hold upon that vast seething population is weakened anything might happen. India has other leaders, but there is no one who can take his place in the hearts of the people. The Mahatma has carried on a powerful campaign for Indian liberty. If his influence were weakened the campaign would probably still go on, but it might involve bloodshed instead of passive resistance.

Gandhi's name has been hissed at several recent meetings of natives. Following the attack upon him at Karachi bands of "red shirts" tried to force their way into his rooms during the night. Threats that he will be bombed have sent pangs of fear into the hearts of Nationalist leaders. A grave and unexpected crisis has arisen.

Much depends upon the outcome of the All-India National Congress now in session. If the congress accepts the peace truce which Gandhi entered into with Lord Irwin the Mahatma may come out master of the situation. If the congress again demands complete independence and refuses to participate in the proposed round table conference, as it did a year ago, the influence of Gandhi will be broken. Gandhi has made known that he will step aside in the event of such a decision, making way for the radicals.

India's political upheaval is following the inevitable course of revolutions. Gandhi has aroused the people to civil disobedience. He has never intended that there should be open revolution, but he has unwittingly prepared the way for a radical uprising. The same thing happened in the French and the Russian revolutions. Leaders of the movement against the czar are chagrined beyond measure that their reforms should have paved the way for communism. Idealists broke down the old regime and terrorists rushed in to claim the spoils. Will the same thing happen to India? It remains to be seen whether the "red shirts" will be strong enough to brush aside the civil disobedience of Gandhi and usher in a reign of terror.

WEDDING POSTPONED.

The suggested Democratic-Progressive companionate marriage has struck a snag. Representative LaGuardia, leader of the insurgents in the House, seems to have come to a parting of the ways with the so-called Progressives of the Senate, because the latter insist on injecting the problems of agriculture into this family affair.

Every one knows that the Progressives are dirt farmers. No project which does not smack of the soil receives much consideration from them. Senator Norris even puts out his power projects under the guise of measures to benefit the farmer, and Senator Borah sings the song of the soil.

Mr. LaGuardia knows that the very word "progressive" has taken on an agricultural twang. Yet he has the temerity to set forth a "progressive" program of legislation without once mentioning the lowly farmer. Does he expect stalwart representatives of the dirt farmers to stand for a dole to the unemployed from out of the taxpayers' pockets without demanding an export bounty on surplus crops? It is not surprising that Senator Norbeck and Representative Kvale cry out at his treason.

Evidently the Progressive party is too flighty to make much of an appeal to Miss Democracy.

If Senator Borah has been operating on a salary of $7,500 per year in the past, what can be expected of him on $10,000?

Why should Senator Jim Davis go into the movies when he is already in the cast of the biggest talkie show on earth?

Uncle Sam is paying off debt installments so fast that he is running into debt.

THE PAROLE SYSTEM

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

The parole system is in for a periodic panning on account of the Illinois prison riots. Convicts blame the parole board for the unrest; the parole board blames the Legislature. The Chicago Tribune, commenting on the situation, remarks that the system does not confer judicial powers on the board. That, at least, is erroneous. It might have been a judicial power if the law had permitted the parole board to say how long a prisoner must remain in; but it is not a judicial power to say how soon he can get out. That is more akin to the pardoning power, though it is supposed to have nothing to do either with punishment or mercy. It is strictly a disciplinary measure, designed to reward a convict's own efforts toward reform and ease him back into self-respecting, self-supporting existence outside.

The system may have been abused or the prison administration may have allowed convicts to obtain the wrong impression. They all want to get out, and that as soon as possible. The complaint against the operation of the parole system should relieve the minds of those who fancy that what they term "coddling" prisoners has made the institutions so pleasant that crimes are committed in order to go there.

A change in the indeterminate sentence law has caused a great deal of dissatisfaction. Lawmakers who think to check the "crime wave" by increasing the length of terms should take notice. They decrease the prospects of conviction and make prison discipline more difficult. The waves of popular clamor for vengeance and succeeding waves of sympathy leave their traces on the statute books. Six hundred men in the two Illinois prisons were convicted when the term for robbery with firearms was ten years to life. The minimum has been reduced to one year. It irritates them to see men received for the same offense since they arrived going out on parole.

If they have friends outside the friends are always agitating in their favor. If the friends have money criminal lawyers are continually trying out the law. Kentucky went through a series of lawsuits when the so-called "indeterminate sentence" was enacted and repealed. But Kentucky's system holds a man under parole until he dies, is pardoned or is sent back to finish his term. A Kentucky parole is not regarded as a desirable means of release by the class who want to resume their criminal careers. They can be picked up on any minor infraction of parole regulations and sent back.

Nevertheless, modifications of the criminal statutes have disturbed discipline, and, aside from any alleged maladministration, prison authorities ought to acquaint the inmates with the principle as well as the practices of the parole system. Convicts should learn that there are no rights involved; parole is entirely individual. If a man commits a crime when the punishment is ten years to life he has no just grievance because the minimum afterward is reduced to the advantage of future culprits. He deliberately violated the law and assumed the consequences without relation to subsequent action of Legislatures. His eligibility for parole theoretically is his trustworthiness. A proper frame of mind, including the realization that he got about what was coming to him, is one of the elements of eligibility; but, of course, that is hard to cultivate unless the system is so fairly administered that he also anticipates that he will continue to get what is coming to him. Human nature is the same inside as outside the walls.

POST HASTE.

It is the open season for expressions from every one as to whether the Vice President would rather be a senatorial wheel horse than a social lion—that is, from everybody except Charlie Curtis.

It keeps coming out every now and then, as the home weeklies arrive, that there were others attending and disagreeing at the Progressive conference in addition to Senators Norris and Borah.

According to Webster's dictionary the title of "Officious Russian Ambassador" may be used with entire diplomatic propriety by Senator Borah.

Orange juice is now delivered in New York along with the milk. A concession for the evening trade would probably be even more profitable.

Just when the experts said the "saturation" point had been reached in the number of automobiles this country could absorb, families began buying two cars. Now two radio sets per family are required to saturate the neighborhood.

It is to be hoped the King of Siam will not take it as in any way suggestive that he is to be housed in Purchase during his stay.

Whether or not the Governor of Illinois signs the bill to repeal all State dry laws, Chicago will not be put to the inconvenience of any readjustments.

"Four perfect thirteen-card suits in ship game." Queer decks some boats have.

"If you think Tammany's tough, look at Chicago," says Jouett Shouse. "Big Bill's a lion, and the Tiger's a mouse," says Jouett Shouse.

Since neither Norris nor Borah cares for the strenuous work of congressional politics, Progressive progress depends on whether Bob La Follette's legs hold out.

Experienced politicians should be able to whitewash wheat and sell it for rice to China's millions.

Buen viaje, pasajeros of the Arizona, and may you soon pick up your English again. P. H.

THE LITTLE OLD WOMAN.

There was a little woman whose hands were worn and red,
And long ago the beauty of her youthful days had fled,
For she had suffered sorrow, and she had suffered pain,
But after these had left her she learned to smile again,
And out she'd come with cookies for the children on the street
Till it seemed where'er she wandered there were young ones round her feet.

She hadn't any money; she was never gayly dressed;
She had a shawl and bonnet which she called her Sunday best.
And if you gave her something in a little while you'd see Some other person strutting in that bit of finery,
And she'd give this explanation if you asked the reason why:
"I thought she ought to have it. She's so much worse off than I."

No one ever seemed to notice that her hands were coarse and red,
That she wasn't good to look at no
one ever heard it said,
And the smartest of her neighbors who appeared to know it all Never spoke a word in censure of her bonnet or the shawl.
So I take this truth for granted: that a sweet and tender smile
And a heart so brave and kindly never do go out of style.

The Creatures That Live Longest Are the Ones That Move Sedately.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

WHEN the modern man goes out to play, he does the things his forefathers did to get a living.

He climbs, hunts, fishes, swings a club.

A beneficent nature prompts him to do the things that are best for him.

How can a man discover how much exercise he needs to keep fit? He can follow the plan of nature.

The primitive man's hunting wasn't play. It was work. But it was the kind of work prompted by his nature and suited to his needs, and the exercise it afforded him was the kind and degree necessary to keep him in good condition.

That is the story in a nut shell. Nature's plan gives every creature the exercise it needs. Fowls and fishes, cattle and beasts must exert themselves to get a living, and the degree of exertion required of them is the measure of exercise they need.

Wild things never work too hard or exercise too little. They do their daily dozen unconsciously, while searching for dinner.

Do you have faith in nature's wisdom? If you have, isn't it obvious that man's need of exercise, like that of other creatures, is fixed and limited by the effort required to win his daily bread?

The natural man, prompted only by his nature and his needs, lived placidly and simply, as other creatures do, and never was violent except under threat of disaster.

If that is true, and you know it is true, why assume that modern man needs more exercise than nature required of the primitive?

True exercise, which is exertion for the sake of exertion, is required only of the young.

The young are prompted to play because they need exercise to develop their muscles.

The mature feel no urge to skip and tumble because they need no more exercise than is required to get a living.

This doesn't mean that a man who gets his living by punching the keys of a typewriter needs no further exercise, nor that a man who works hard indoors can keep fit without further effort.

It means that the modern man, whatever his method of earning bread, needs the exercise a natural man got while winning his bread in a natural way—just that and no more.

Wild creatures past the prime of life never cavort and frolic in an effort to remain young. And there is no indication that 18 per cent of them die of heart trouble.

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

Not a Country Club.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

After all, the prisoners are offenders against the public—in the Joliet instance they are the case-hardened lot sent from Chicago, murderers and armed robbers. They are "bad actors" outside of prison; that is why they were put behind the bars. Unless discipline is rigid, they are "bad actors" in prison.

There is overcrowding at Joliet, by about 40 per cent. But overcrowding is not the fault of warden or guards. Their task is to make the best of what they are given and to keep the prisoners safely housed. They seem to have done it with fair success at Joliet, with the most effective means at hand—force. They are already being criticized in some quarters, but, as Warden Hill says, "We're not running a country club." And that is the final answer to sentimentalists. A prison is a prison, for the detention of convicted public enemies.

They Were Right.

Parso (N. Dak.) Forum.

Senator Norris went out on the stump, talked for and worked for the election of Alfred Smith for President in the 1928 presidential derby. Now he's out again, this time with the assertion that the only hope the "liberals" have in the next presidential election lies in the Democratic party. Yet, how great the cry and hue from Norris' satellites when it was found that some Republicans didn't think him a good enough Republican to support the United States senatorship in Nebraska last year. The more we think about it, the more profound our belief that those Republicans who refused to accept Norris were right.

Away From Ducks.

Atlanta Constitution.

The President is going to refugee on the high seas where the "lame ducks" can't flock around him.

Chicago's Next Mayor.

New York Times.

Even Thompsons come somehow to an end of their away in this country, and the April election may be the mayor's finish. His lead over his rival in the Republican primary was large, and if all the Republicans who participated in it vote the straight ticket, the odds are in Mr. Thompson's favor. But thus far the dissident Republicans rest in their tents. Mr. Cermak, though unopposed in the Democratic primary, and not an inspiring civic leader, polled a very large vote. If there is real Republican rebellion and no considerable Democratic disaffection, it may be that the shadow of defeat really hovers over the mayor, as dispatches suggest.

One Record Sufficient.

Los Angeles Times.

The Congressional Record has but 1,000 subscribers and 36,000 copies published daily. The other 35,000 have to be given away as souvenirs. And yet congressmen want to install microphones so the people can have the opportunity to hear them. That station would be an optimist to put those speeches on the air. Man has made the only loud speaker that you can turn off!

And Live Happily Ever After.

New York Times.

Congress has made "The Star-Spangled Banner" the official anthem. As soon as we have succeeded in completely enforcing the prohibition laws we shall set to work to compel everybody to learn all the words after "Oh, say can you see."

Detroit Ship News.

Detroit News.

The presidential medicine ball has been thrown overboard, says a dispatch from the battleship Arizona. Old salts are already bringing in stories of seeing sharks play water polo.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Testimony of a Mother Whose Boy Attended a Citizens' Summer Training Camp at Plattsburg.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: My son had just passed his seventeenth milestone. He was a good boy, as boys go, but was not strong, was stoop-shouldered, pale and so lacking in "pep" that I was much concerned for his health. He saw an announcement of the approaching summer training camp at Plattsburg, and asked if he might go. I was incensed that he could wish for even a taste of Army life, and I made the reply that many other mothers have used, "I haven't raised my boy to be a soldier." But he persisted, got his father's immediate consent, when he said, "Sure, let him go. It can't hurt him, and it may do him good. He'll have to leave home some time, and here's a cheap way for him to start. Let him go."

He went, and put in the full 30 days. When I drove to the station to meet him I tried to pick him out of the young men on the platform, and not seeing him was about to drive away, when an upstanding young man put his head in the car with a "Hello, mother!" that took my breath away. The boy that went away a month ago had returned a young man. He had learned to stand up straight—he seemed taller. His cheecks were no longer hollow, but were plump and round. He had gained 13½ pounds!

When I saw what a transformation had taken place, I said, "How did you like it, Edward?" Here is his reply, as I remember it: "Mother, it was bully! I've had the time of my life. The officers are the finest lot of men ever, gentlemen every one of them, topnotchers at that. It is worthwhile to associate with such men. They were absolutely on the level with every guy in the bunch, and if any one got it in the neck he deserved it—believe me. Of course we had to get up in time for chow, and I guess that was the hardest thing I had to do. What we had to eat was good for us, as you can see, and there was plenty of it, but no French cooking. We had exercise, study hours—it was school, you know—and those teachers can teach, and you can't help learning a lot. And I met splendid boys from three or four States, and I wish I was going back to the next one that opens on Monday. I don't have to be a soldier because I was there, but that is as honest as anything else, and I learned things there that I can't get elsewhere, that every man ought to know, and more about how to become a useful citizen than I did about soldiering. Army methods are O. K. for discipline and the developing of the idea of teamwork. I wouldn't have missed it for money, and if I am alive next year you'll let me go, I know. Your round-shouldered boy is something of a man now, and I mean to live up to what I got there, so that I'll be fit at the very start."

Before he went to camp he was not especially courteous to his mother and sister, but now he is most considerate, always. Not only has my opposition melted away, but I am enthusiastic for summer camps, and am urging my friends to send their sons as soon as they are old enough. It may cost the Government a lot of money, but it is the making of man on a grand scale. A MOTHER.

Logan Circle Congestion Calls for Widening of Roadway by Cutting Down Wide Sidewalks.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Traffic congestion has become so acute at Logan Circle that something should be done immediately to relieve the situation. The incessant flow of traffic supplied by three arterial highways continuously threatens to deluge the overburdened circle with traffic jams and tie-ups. Thoroughfares combined to make up the chain that link with Logan Circle are Rhode Island avenue, Thirteenth street, Vermont avenue and P street.

Logan Circle, unlike several other circles whose thoroughfares are amply wide to meet heavy traffic demands, has a much narrower roadway. The inevitable congestion can be expected during morning and afternoon rush hours, when the majority of streets and highways are overtaxed.

The only solution possible is to widen this important thoroughfare. The extra wide sidewalks surrounding the circle could be cut down and the roadway widened. Highways and circles where traffic tends to overtax the capacity of streets should, where possible, be widened. U. TELLUM.

Mail Truck Ignores Red Light—Drivers of Mail Wagons Frequent Violators of Traffic Rules.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A mail truck bearing D. C. Tag C-107 rushed the red light at Fourteenth and Pennsylvania avenue at 11:10 o'clock Wednesday, March 25. All traffic and pedestrians were in danger. The traffic officer halted the mail truck and called the driver down, who went away cursing the officer. Traffic violations by mail truck drivers are very common. OBSERVER.

O RAPTUROUS SPRING!

By GEORGE SANDS JOHNSON.

O rapturous Spring! You have come once more!
Your glory, beauty and inspiration
Spur the spirit of fancy with deep delight,
And waken in mortal quaint dreams of blissful zeal,
While Nature shyly opens each cloistered door,
As Winter departs in silent meditation,
And joy springs wistfully in airy flight,
Into your waiting arms with outstretched appeal!
That embrace and enfold the soul of youth and age.
With happy visions and thoughts which reflect and glow
In love and peace, while under the magic spell
Which your sweet charm and touch impart and lend,
To each and all that move across
Life's stage;
A golden memory which shall come and go,
Like lingering echoes through a hazel dell,
And cheer the Earth with tokens of Time's end.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

King's Birthday Is Honored by Egyptian Envoy

Brilliant Reception Held at Legation, Society Turning Out.

WHILE King Fouad I, monarch of ancient lineage, celebrated in Cairo, the anniversary of his birth, his envoy in America gave further expression to the day with a brilliant reception which took place yesterday afternoon at the Egyptian legation where the Charge d'Affaires and Mme. Aly Ismail Bey received.

Invitations went out to members of the Diplomatic Corps, official society and a few members of residential groups. Massachusetts avenue at Twenty-third street, presented a gay scene between 5 and 7 o'clock when smart motors, with their distinguished occupants, buzzed busily up and down the thoroughfare.

Everywhere were lovely women of chic, alighting from shining "turn outs," quite in contrast to a street scene in King Fouad's gay Cairo. There the king's subjects "mill" up and down Kemal street every hour of the day for a week to do honor to the occasion, with scarcely a woman visible; at night, music and carnival lights; by day scholars and men of affairs drinking coffee on the plazas.

However, the legation yesterday also presented a gala air. The Charge d'Affaires and Mme. Aly Ismail Bey received near the doorway of the drawing room, against a background of crimson tapestry which formed a setting for a portrait of the king. The hostess looked charming in a gown of black lace with tiered flounces on the skirt and a tiny shoulder cape to form the short sleeves. She wore gardenias.

In the dining room and supper room the tables were festive in variegated spring flowers. Everybody, in tune with the glorious day, seemed to be having a good time. Among those arriving early was the Ambassador of Poland, Mr. Tytus Filipowicz; the Minister of Greece and Mme. Simopoulos, Senora de Tellez, the latter two looking smart in black. In fact, black with white, which seemed the favorite combination yesterday, was an index of the mode for Easter days.

All of the embassies and legations were represented. The Ambassador of Chile and Senora de Davila attended, the latter in a costume of black and white; Mme. Varela, wife of the Minister of Uruguay attended; the Minister of Sweden, Mr. W. Bostrom, and the Minister of South Africa, Mr. Eric H. Louw, were there. Both Mme. Bostrom and Mrs. Louw are abroad.

Mrs. Stimson attended, as did Mrs. Acams and Mrs. Lamont, Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Newton, Mrs. Wilbur J. Carr, Miss Katherine Loman, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Merrill, and several others of the Cabinet and "little cabinet" added gayety to the party.

Also noted were the Military Attache of the Cuban Embassy and Mme. Prieto, both, as usual, the center of animated groups; the Air Attache of the French Embassy and Mme. Thenault, the Commercial Secretary of the British Embassy and Mrs. McCormick-Goodhart, Senora de Sacasa and her pretty daughter, Senorita Maria Sacasa; Miss Tessada Guzmann, Mlle. Maeli Pfaeffli, niece of the Minister of Switzerland and Mme. Peter, and numerous others of the diplomatic "crowd" came in, most of them having attended the reception at the Austrian Legation, following the wedding of Miss Loranda Prochnik and Mr. Francis Lecompte Spalding.

Also present were Mrs. Robert F. Mackenzie, Col. and Mrs. George C. Thorpe, Mrs. Samuel Beverly Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. Carter Field, Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose, Mrs. Charles S. Deneen and her daughter, Miss Bina Day Deneen; Mrs. Sol Bloom and Miss Vera Bloom, Mrs. Ollie James, Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin and Dr. Anita Boggs.

Carlos Del Mars To Entertain Tellez.

The Mexican Ambassador and Senora de Tellez are the guests in whose honor Mr. and Mrs. Carlos del Mar will entertain at dinner on April 28. Mr. and Mrs. Del Mar will return from their wedding trip in Havana on April 15.

The Chinese Minister and Mme. Wu will be the guests of honor at a luncheon of the American Association of University Women at the clubhouse, 1634 H street, tomorrow at 1 o'clock. Dr. Wu will speak on "Some Aspects of Chinese Education."

French Society Prints Poem of Mrs. Lindbergh

"Remembrance" Shortly to Be Issued; Already Set to Music.

While fame beckons on one hand and the wings of the sky on the other, Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh has further demonstrated the versatility of the modern college woman in the early publication by a French society of her poem "Remembrance." Its publication, soon to be issued in Paris, will be sponsored by the aviation society, Les Ailes Brisees (The Broken Wings), which translated Mrs. Lindbergh's famous poem.

The American composer, Maury Madison, recently set the poem to music from a French translation of Rene Nazelles. The poem-song, offered to the Ailes Brisees, is known as "Souvenane."

The poem, which starts with the lines: "Your hands have curved about this bowl; Your lips have felt a kiss upon the teacup's rim," was written by Mrs. Lindbergh before she married the transatlantic flier.

Mrs. Lindbergh, who was the former Anne Morrow, established a unique place in literary circles at Smith College, where she was educated and where most of her poems, now famous, were written. She is the daughter of Senator and Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow.

The newly appointed United States Minister to the Netherlands, Mr. Laurits S. Swenson, arrived in Washington yesterday and will be at the Mayflower during his stay in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Burruss, of 2151 California street, will open their summer home, Hemlock Hollow, in Maryland this week. Miss Barbara Burruss and Miss Rosalie Van Auken, who are attending Holton Arms School, will join them for the spring vacation.

Mrs. Anderson Is Sponsoring Hub Institute

Social Leader Generous to American Institute for Secretaries.

Ever interested in philanthropic endeavor, Mrs. Larz Anderson is sponsoring the American Institute for Secretaries, which has just been founded in Boston, where she spends much of her time. The president is Dr. T. Lawrence Davis, dean of Boston University's College of Practical Arts and Letters.

The institute is designed eventually to rely upon an endowment for its general maintenance rather than upon current gifts and miscellaneous income.

Mrs. Anderson has contributed generously toward the founding of the college. As she maintains a charming estate in Brookline, in addition to her residence here on Massachusetts avenue, where the King and Queen of Siam will stay during their Washington visit, it is natural that her interest should be strongly allied with various civic projects in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson are now in the Orient, on a trip around the world.

Mrs. John E. Reyburn has as her guest her son, Mr. William Reyburn, formerly of Washington, but now of Aiken, S. C. Mr. and Mrs. William Reyburn have closed their house at Aiken for the season and Mrs. Reyburn has gone to New Haven to be with her mother, Mrs. Gardner, who is ill.

The trio had planned to spend the summer in Europe, but Mrs. Gardner's illness has necessitated a change in any plans for the immediate future.

The Charge d'Affaires of Belgium, Viscount de Lantsheere, has taken possession of an apartment at the Mayower, where he will now be in residence.

Spaldings Go On Bermuda Honeymoon

Loranda Prochnik's Wedding Brilliant Function at Legation.

Bound for Bermuda on a wedding trip Mr. Francis Lecompte Spalding and his bride, who, until her marriage yesterday afternoon was Miss Loranda Stephanie Prochnik, daughter of the Minister of Austria and Mme. Prochnik, will be there until April 13, returning then to Washington.

Before a small group from diplomatic and residential circles, Miss Prochnik and Mr. Spalding, son of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Spalding, of Brookline, Mass., were married at 4 o'clock at the spacious legation on Massachusetts avenue, with Mgr. Buckey, rector of St. Matthew's Church officiating. A reception which additional guests attended was held immediately following the ceremony.

Miss Prochnik was escorted to an improvised altar, which was banked with a charming array of palms, ferns and spring flowers, by her father. A stringed orchestra played the wedding march, and later during the reception. Smartly gowned in traditional ivory satin, Miss Prochnik made a striking picture. Her gown was made with a draped blouse, long tight sleeves, and a flowing train edged with old lace, which hung from a wide girdle around the hips. A tulle veil fell becomingly from a cap of old lace. She wore a string of pearls, which belonged to the bridegroom's mother, a diamond bracelet, a gift from the bridegroom, and carried a shower bouquet of white lilacs and lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaids, Miss Elise Spalding, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Valerie Prochnik, sister of the bride, wore frocks of pale yellow lace, which were finished by girdles of crushed yellow, green, and lavender ribbon. Their hats were of rough yellow straw and they carried yellow roses and lavender sweet peas.

Little Patricia Prochnik, youngest of the three girls, was flower girl. She wore a quaint empire frock of yellow point d'esprit and carried a bouquet of violets.

Mr. John Valentine, of Chicago, was best man for Mr. Spalding.

At the reception, Mme. Prochnik stood with Mr. Spalding and his bride to greet the guests. She wore a gown of white chiffon and black lace and a large hat of rough black straw.

Mr. and Mrs. Spalding departed for New York, the latter wearing a traveling suit of blue tweed, with which she wore a white tweed blouse and hat.

The out-of-town guests at the wedding included Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Spalding, Mr. and Mrs. Walter van Kleeck, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Beebe, Miss Dai Buell, Miss Violet James, all of Boston; Mrs. Frank Lecompte, Mrs. Edgar Hackney, Miss Nancy Pearson, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Heckscher, of Philadelphia; Miss Elizabeth Lee Valentine, Miss Nora Antrim, of Richmond, and Miss Alice de Peyster, of New York.

MAKE sure you are giving yourself the necessary food-elements to build up reserves of strength.

Good, rich milk supplies these vital elements in greater quantity than any other food, and in their most easily digestible form. That's why busy executives can do more work with less fatigue when they have plenty of milk at noon—and why workmen on outdoor jobs are drinking as much as a quart of milk with their daily luncheons.

Chestnut Farms Milk is richer and better. It is refreshing, delicious, pure . . . safeguarded from the cow to your doorstep by spotless handling.

YOUR NAME — WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, Ph.D.

THE practice of borrowing names from the various occupations of life dates from very early days. Perhaps the most popular sport of medieval times was bird hunting. For this purpose various methods were adopted, the most enjoyed being that by which a falcon was trained to prey upon other birds and bring them to its owner. Since medieval literature constantly refers to this ancient sport, it is not surprising that the modern "Falconers" are so numerous. The name was first applied to persons who trained and kept falcons for the use of their lords. It appears to be first recorded in the Hundred Rolls, which mentions a Richard le Fauconer and a Walter le Fauconer. The most common variations in the spelling of this name at the present time are "Falkner" and "Faulkner." Its most frequently found German equivalents are "Falkner," "Falchner" and "Felkner."

The personal and family name "Gilbert" is extremely common in England, France and Germany. This name came into England by way of France, but it is ultimately of Teutonic origin. It has come down to us as the modern form of two old Germanic personal names, "Giltbert," meaning "pledge-bright," and "Gisalbrent." The original meaning of "Gisalbrecht" is "famous hostage," but it later took on the derived meaning of "the noble child" or "the noble man," since hostages were generally of noble birth. An Isolda Gilberti is mentioned in an English document of the year 1273. At the present time "Gilbert" is one of the commonest of French family names. The commonest modern German variations of this name are "Giesselbrecht," "Gilbrecht," "Kilbert," and "Gilbera."

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"ARIES."

If March 27 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a. m. to 1:45 p. m., and from 4 p. m. to 6:15 p. m. The danger hours are from 9 a. m. to 9:15 a. m., from 2:30 p. m. to 3:45 p. m. and from 8 p. m. to 9:10 p. m. The planetary aspects of March 27 indicate an atmosphere of lassitude. But much work of a profitable nature will be accomplished. After sunset the conditions reveal a marked change for the better, and social activities especially will reap the benefit.

Children born on this March 27 will be very considerate of others, genial, and kind. They will not have strong characters, and their early environment will influence them throughout life. They will be affectionate and love their kith and kin with constancy.

If you were born on March 27 you are very determined, equally as stubborn, and aggressively dogmatic. Yet any one who knows how to handle you and uses the special brand of flattery suitable to your case you are amenable, kind, and sympathetic. You seem to think it is necessary, in order to make your presence felt, to become loud and blatant. This type are many, but there are those who realize that though your bark is noisy your bite is innocuous.

Your prejudices, your likes and dislikes, are very pronounced, and you never try to hide them. You voice them in season and out of season. Your attitude is one that estranges, although at heart you are really a good sort, and your nature when properly attuned is kind, tolerant and generous. In your habits you are tidy, punctual and law-abiding. Gifted with more than the average intelligence, endowed with a good memory, and possessing both ambition and persistency, you are bound to forge ahead and achieve success.

If a woman, you are highly intuitional and can make a little go a long way without giving any evidence of skimping. Both men and women born on March 27 are assured of domestic felicity. Although "April showers" may cause momentary differences, they will bring out the "May flowers" of sweet content.

Successful people born March 27:

George S. Coe, financier, originated clearing house of certificates.

Nathaniel C. Bryant, naval officer, distinguished in Mexican and Civil Wars.

Genevieve Ward, actress.

Adolphus W. Greely, Arctic explorer.

George F. Baker, banker.

AU COURANT INTERPRETS the MODE

Quietly elegant summer dinner frock of printed chiffon. (Courtesy of Patou, Paris.)

Paris, March 26.

YOU "auter" just TRY and grab a flitting mannequin by the tail of her dress or negligee or coat, as she swishes past you in the salon of a gr-r-rand couturier! But if you try EVERY time, in view of the fact that she will pass you about 300 times in one fashion show in one house (add it up at the rate of your poor Dah-ray seeing 50 collections, and you will know why she's goofy sometimes) you are bound to nab her at least thrice.

Which brings me, naturally, to materials, whether you are following me or not. And to their fancy names. Don't let all the new fancy names for materials one hears bandied about bother your pretty heads. Gasna, malgache, sinellic and rodellic, tollina, vollescourt and so on and so on. The important thing is to know that the newest and smartest fabric novelty of this season is the lacy, transparent wool weaves for both daytime and even afternoon attire. In fact, the textile creators have discovered that wool can be woven into an endless variety of sheer and beautiful stuffs!

Wool crepes and combinations of wool and artificial silk are very smart for daytime wear, and in the wool line there are the jersey tulles and nets, and just the fine, closely woven jersey itself for evening gowns.

And, of course, you know all about "peau d'ange," the suede finished satin which started out by being used for evening gowns and is now seen in jackets, collars and cuffs and hat trimmings.

Otherwise, the classic fabrics, crepe satins, georgette and chiffons, &c., with the old-fashioned recognizable names, are still with us. I'd go into the subject of prints with you, but I have a feeling you're as tired as I am of discussing whether or not they are smart—all I'll say is "You can take 'em or leave 'em."

• • • •

Summer hats, however light, are hot, now aren't they? I find them so, especially for motoring and traveling, yet you can NOT wear one, because of what the playful breezes do to your hair, bobbed or otherwise. That's only one of the reasons I found so nice in the little chic little hat I bought last week—there were lots of other reasons. But if you send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet telling you how to make my Paris hat, you will see all the other nice things about it. Better hurry, tho, as there aren't too many of these leaflets left!

The kimono-like sleeves, and short sleeves, and longish shoulders of the new mode demand tight-fitting hips to balance the silhouette. So if you haven't hips that you want to present to the world, don't indulge in dropped shoulder lines either, but leave them for the Greta Garbos of mannish figure.

Patou is the man of the day for styles, as you know. Yet, sometimes, it is an awful effort to sketch a Patou gown, because it is so simple and elegant of line—an elegance that is in the cut and rather than in the appearance, you see. That's why I hesitated to sketch the gown I show you today, because I couldn't half do justice to it, really. Yet it was so graceful, and such good taste, that I attempted it anyhow.

• • • •

Bet you couldn't guess in a millyun years what she's wearing in the corner! I couldn't believe my own eyes, so went into the store to get a better look at it——too bad for the bank balance, because I came out with it!

'Tis a necklace, honestly, darlings! A green sort of a stone like jade, curved and shaped just as it is sketched, and with a little tuck in it just as though it really were a collar—and there, just at the side, a tiny strass bow. No, it isn't heavy, but it certainly is spectacular!

Some interesting hints on your spring and summer costume are to be found in Dare's weekly fashion letter in next Sunday's Washington Post.

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

JUST when everybody claims the road is dying, Washington turns in a young fortune over the box-office tile. Mr. Herman Bernstein, the youthful and debonair manager of the "Elizabeth the Queen" company, at the National, sees $3,000 a performance on the week.

• • • •

Over on Lafayette Square, where Mr. L. Stoddard Taylor is entertaining a cast of 48 people in "Street Scene," the box-office rush is on the grand scale. Packed houses have greeted the players ever since the opening on Sunday. By the closing performance Saturday night "Street Scene" may have registered a new house record.

• • • •

The same situation obtained yesterday afternoon in the National, where Mr. Burton Holmes unfolded his second lecture in the spring series of travel-talks. Almost every seat in the house was filled when the noted lecturer began his trip to Oberammergau, showing the village and the players and the Passion Play of 1930.

• • • •

From the aforegoing instances it would seem to be an axiom that so long as the theater has something worth while to offer, the public may always be depended upon to respond—even at high prices and in times of depression. The consensus of opinion in New York is that the next three years will see the high-water mark in theatrical production in America.

• • • •

A dearth of plays this season leaves the Belasco dark next week—not to be reopened until the week of April 5—Easter Sunday night—when Thurston, the Magician, comes along with a hat full of rabbits.

• • • •

The National, just prior to the opening of the spring and summer stock season, Easter Monday, books in a return engagement of the play, "Strictly Dishonorable." It opens on E street next Monday night.

• • • •

On Tuesday, March 31, according to Mr. Charles Christopher Columbus, secretary of the Washington Advertising Club, that organization will stage a mammoth civic luncheon in honor of the National Theater Players. The party will be held in the auditorium of the National Press Club, at noon, the players to be given the keys of the city by Commissioner L. H. Reichelderfer. All theater fans are advised to make reservations early.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

He Can Not See the Joke!

DEAR FRANCES McDONALD: I have read your column every day for several years. I have noticed several fellows have written you lately and I thought I would add my opinion for what it is worth. I hope you will think it is worth printing.

I am a lawyer, 35 years old. And as I have been establishing myself in my profession I have not been able to marry, as I want to support my wife when I do. Now I feel the time has come when I can take a wife.

Last summer I met a girl whom I thought was the girl for me. She did not smoke, drink or pet. Oh, yes, I tried to make her do all these things, but she never would yield and I felt more proud of her and loved her more every time she refused me. I have been testing her out. I wanted to be sure she was sincere. We fellows do that, but we are glad when a girl is strong enough to resist us. That is, clean fellows are.

Well, I had her out not long ago and had made up my mind to ask her to marry me. I am not sure that she would, for I never could feel sure of her. However, we had only settled in the machine when she surprised me by coolly asking for a cigarette and smoked it like a veteran. I did not ask her to marry me. I am terribly disappointed and I feel she must have been deceiving me all the time. I love this girl, but I do not want my children to grow up with a mother who can not set a better example. Smoking is not the worst crime, of course, but it so often leads to other things. And men give a girl just what they think she wants. And I do not believe many men like to see a girl smoke and drink and so they tempt her, but, believe me, they are always glad when they find she is not easily tempted.

I would like to find a girl as sweet and good as my own mother. Do you think I ever will?

I hope you will print this and the girl will read it. We have had their side so long, let them learn what we think. DISAPPOINTED.

I never heard a better joke! What a lot of fun she must have been having as you weighed her in the balance and struggled to decide her fate! What priceless accounts of your scientific tests of feminine virtue she must have been relaying to the girl friends! Young man, I think you got just what you deserved. You love her, you say. Of course, you do. Why shouldn't you? And she, thanks to your idiotic behavior, pities you as something left over from a forgotten world.

You want your children to have a mother who can set them a good example. They will need it, with a father who has gone about "tempting" girls—to see if they would fall. That's a fine picture. Is there anything in the smoking of a cigarette by a girl comparable to the villainy you so glibly confess? This girl, up to the moment when she went suddenly criminal and demanded a match, had never given you the slightest reason to feel anything but respect for her—if it had been in you to feel respect for any woman—yet you boldly state that you have been trying ever since last summer to get her to drink, smoke and pet. What a man! What a great and noble sire those very important children of yours will have! But, then, that will not matter, for they will have a perfect mother!

Young man, go out and have an ice cream soda while you wait for that woman as good as your mother. But before you go let me tell you that a man who really respects his own mother respects other women for her sake. He does not go about trying to break down the reserve of the girls he meets. He does not try to get such girls to drink and pet against their convictions. And if your mother had made a good job of being a mother you would not do these things. Well-born and well-bred men do not.

Come again!

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

EIGHT SHRUBS FOR SUNNY GARDENS.

JUST why there is a dearth of shrubs in so many city gardens I have never been able to understand. Surely it can not be because people do not like them. More likely it is because of lack of space. Of course, in the average city garden, frequently composed of space from the back door to the back gate, a distance of possibly 50 feet, and from high board fence to high board fence, a distance of 30 feet, I must admit that shrubbery is out of the question.

But the back yard surrounded with the high board fence is now almost a thing of the past. The small space at the back of the average city house has real garden possibilities. Even in so small a place, provided you have rich soil and sunshine, there is nothing to prevent you from having one or more specimens of the ordinary shrubs, which, when they are in bloom, will repay you a hundredfold for any time you may have expended on their care.

In a sunny garden you have a wide choice of shrubs and most of them are reliable. There are, however, eight that I consider well suited to the average city garden.

The first is the azalea hinodegiri, a Japanese variety bearing masses of fiery single flowers. It is a low-growing shrub which you are sure to admire.

The second is the spiraea vanhoutei, the most beautiful of all white spireas.

The third is the abelia grandiflora, a dwarf, glossy foliaged shrub which flowers continuously from July until frost. The flowers are a delicate shell pink and arbutus-like in shape.

And fourth, there is the berberis thunbergi, or Japanese barberry, a beautiful variety whose fruit remains on the bush most of the winter.

Fifth there is the syringa, which is so well suited to a small garden.

Sixth the prunus japonica (double flowering almond) is never a disappointment. You can choose the white or pink varieties, but I feel sure you will like the pink best.

The seventh is the ever-jubilant forsythia, which unfurls its lovely blossoms as the last snowflakes are melting.

And as the eighth variety, let me suggest a deutzia gracilis, which requires no pruning.

(Copyright, 1931.)

All readers' questions on growing and care of indoor and outdoor flowers and floral decorations for social functions will be answered by Miss Kift, directly in this column if addressed in care of The Washington Post, or directly to readers if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is supplied.

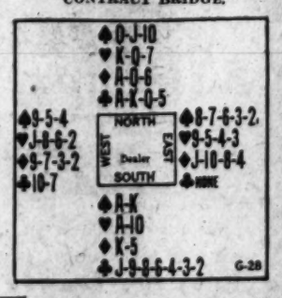
WORK ON BRIDGE

CONTRACT BRIDGE.



THE above enormous combination of winning cards was held at Towson, Md.

South, with a count of 15, bid one No Trump. North had a No Trump count of 23. Adding this total to the count assured by South's bid, North realized that he and South held a combined count of 38. He knew that a combined count of 35 justifies a small slam bid in No Trumps and that a combined count of 37 usually produces a grand slam. North was tempted to call seven No Trumps, but decided to play for a seemingly sure small slam rather than risk the grand slam which might be defeated.

South knew that North must have a count of at least 22, as he could not have counted upon South for more than 13; but South's count was 15, and so the combined count of the two hands must be at least 37 which justified a bid of seven No Trumps. South made that bid and scored a grand slam without difficulty. As a matter of fact North and South not only could take thirteen tricks, but would be obliged to waste three winning cards while they were doing it.

In reality South, with his seven-card Club suit and the Hearts and Diamonds far from strong although stopped, could more conservatively have bid one Club. If South had bid one Club, North would have been a most enlightened individual. He would know that South must have at least three side tricks to bid a Jack-high suit, and that these side tricks must be the Ace and King of Spades and the Ace of Hearts. The King of Diamonds might or might not be there as well. Consequently, North could be sure of making a small slam in either Clubs or No Trumps; the latter being his choice because it would produce the larger score.

Whether South then would bid for a grand slam because he had more than was shown by his original bid, would depend upon his temperament. Probably he would fear that North had counted upon a high Club in the South hand and would let the bidding stop at a small slam.

Byrd to Speak Tonight On Adventures at Pole

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd will tell members of the National Geographic Society of his life at Little America and adventures of himself and his companions in Antarctica in an address this evening at the Washington Auditorium. In illustrating his story Admiral Byrd will show 9,000 feet of film, without titles. Nearly half of the film contains scenes never before exhibited.

Rail Merger Step Nearer Actuality

Chiefs of 4 Eastern Lines Confer With Heads of Labor Groups.

New York, March 26 (A.P.)—The decade-old controversy over regrouping of the Eastern trunk line railroads was still another step nearer solution today.

Heads of the four great systems—Pennsylvania, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, and the Chesapeake & Ohio-Erie Nickel Plate group—issued a terse formal statement after another conference, merely reporting that "further progress was made."

The meeting was attended by D. B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, and other representatives of the railway brotherhoods. What aspects of the consolidation situation were discussed with the labor representatives was not revealed. Some concern has been expressed in labor circles as to the effect of the proposed consolidation upon the operating forces. An understanding with labor is believed to be an important factor in the plan.

Men who know the importance of MODERN heating install BRYANT Gas Heat

This charming Bryant heated home, located at Shadow Lane and Woodland Drive, is typical of Kennedy-Chamberlain homes in the exclusive Kenwood development.

Homes designed and built by Thomas A. Jameson at 4015-27 Kansas Ave. N. W. Whole rows are now equipped with Automatic Gas Heat for people of moderate means.

Chevy Chase is an established community rapidly turning to gas for ideal heat. These beautiful homes, constructed by Charles L. Tankersley at 3815-17 Legation St., are typical examples.

BRYANT GAS HEATING

Men who make a business of building and selling homes are specialists in their line. Their very existence depends upon their ability to foresee and meet the demands of the public.

They KNOW that the public wants automatic heat. But more than that, they know that semi-automatic or makeshift arrangements won't do. They must have the best. They must have equipment that they KNOW will give you, the ultimate purchaser, the years of carefree, completely automatic heating service you are entitled to.

That's why most Washington home and apartment builders select Bryant Automatic Gas Heating.

In the pictures above, and in the panel to the right, you will find many of Washington's most successful, most reliable builders who install and recommend Bryant Automatic Gas Heat—men and companies whose judgment cannot be questioned—men and companies who cannot afford to take a chance.

If you are going to buy or rent a home ask your agent about Automatic Gas Heat. If you own your home, add to its resale value and enjoy the comforts of a perfect heating system by installing Bryant Gas Heat. Call NAtional 8280.

HOW IT BEGAN

By Russ Murphy and Ray Sennsky

TANTALIZE
TANTALUS BETRAYED HIS FATHER JUPITER'S SECRETS. IN PUNISHMENT HE WAS COMPELLED TO STAND IN WATER UP TO HIS CHIN WITH FRUITS HANGING OVERHEAD. BUT THE FRUITS RECEDED WHENEVER HE REACHED FOR THEM. THIS OLD MYTH GAVE US OUR WORD "TANTALIZE."

Apple Sauce With Pork

THE OLD ANGLO-SAXONS WERE WISE IN MORE WAYS THAN ONE. THEY KNEW THAT A GREASY FOOD NEEDED AN ACID TO HELP ITS DIGESTION, SO THEY STARTED THE CUSTOM OF SERVING APPLESAUCE WITH ROAST PORK OR GOOSE.

Lucky To Find A Pin

WHEN PINS WERE FIRST INTRODUCED THEY WERE EXPENSIVE. A PERSON WHO FOUND ONE WAS LUCKY, BECAUSE HE COULD SELL IT IF HE DIDN'T WANT TO USE IT. PINS ARE NOW CHEAP BUT WE STILL FEEL THAT IT'S LUCKY TO PICK ONE UP.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

HARM FROM ENEMAS.

DR. J. A. LICHTY warns against the habitual use of enemas.

Washing the colon has become a fetish. In some hotel rooms he says there are cards announcing the location of some accessible colon washers. Establishments giving this service are almost as accessible as barber shops and clothes pressing places. Some rush off to have this service as people do to get a marcel or to have the nails manicured. If one does not have any pep, or has any sort of a discomfort he tries a colon washing as his first gamble on a way to change matters. His point of view is that if no good is accomplished no harm has been done.

A considerable experimental study convinced Dr. Friedenwald that the latter half of this opinion is not entirely correct. He found that prolonged use of even the simplest form of enema proved slightly harmful. Probably the least harmful substance that could be injected was oil, but a normal salt solution did not rank much higher in harm done. Soapsuds and various other chemicals in solution did a definite amount of damage.

This adverse report did not include the tendency toward constipation and the establishment of the enema habit which almost always follow use of the procedure. Dr. Hurst limited what he said in disapproval of enemas to the use of high enemas and especially those in which some inches of rubber tubing are inserted. There is a valve located less than 5 inches from the outside and when a tube is inserted a length of 10 or 12 inches it pushes up to this valve and then bends back to make a coil.

The presence of this coil serves as a source of considerable irritation. If a high enema is to be inserted the tube should be used in the regular way for an ordinary enema, but the injecting should be done very slowly and very gently, and the whole body and mind should be relaxed.

Dr. Lichty does not object to the proper use of enemas for proper purposes. His complaint is against the abuse of the use.

SUSPICION OF TUBERCULOSIS.

Mrs. K. M. S. writes: I am 23 years of age and for the last two years I have been coughing and spitting yellow phlegm. My sister died of tuberculosis five years ago, and I lost a baby six months ago of tuberculosis.

1. What are the symptoms of tuberculosis of the lungs?

2. If I had tuberculosis, how could I cure it besides going to a sanitarium?

REPLY.

1. Besides those you note, the symptoms of tuberculosis are presence of tubercle bacilli in sputum, fever, loss of weight, pallor, being easily fatigued.

2. Put yourself in the hands of a physician of experience with tuberculosis and follow his advice.

NATS SEND BURNS, OUTFIELDER, TO CHATTANOOGA

Turnesa Tops North-South Golf Field

Shoots Rounds of 70-72 to Lead Cox and Cruickshank.

Golden Fourth With 144; Farrell Slips in Afternoon.

By DILLON GRAHAM.

PINEHURST, N. C., March 26 (A. P.).—Joe Turnesa, young professional of Elmsford, N. Y., tonight held a one stroke lead over the field after his 36-holes of play in the twenty-ninth annual North and South 72-hole open golf tournament. His two rounds of 70 and 72 netted him a half-way score of 142.

Just a stroke behind at 143 and tied for second and third positions were Bobby Cruickshank, the wee Scot from Purchase, N. Y., and Wiffy Cox.

Cox played brilliantly this morning for a 69 to lead at the quarter mark, but faltered to a 74 this afternoon. Cruickshank matched two rounds of 72 and 71 for his total.

Johnny Golden, the rotund professional from Norton, Conn., shot two steady rounds in identical figures of 72 for 144 and fourth place.

Farrell Slips After 70 in Morning.

Johnny Farrell, one of the leaders after the morning round when he fired a 70, encountered trouble on the greens coming this afternoon and required a 75 for total of 145. Billy Burke, of Greenwich, Conn., the 1928 winner, also had 145.

Only those players having 158 or better are eligible for participation in the final 36-hole chase tomorrow for the $5,650 in prize money. Sixty-four players qualified.

Turnesa started off poorly this morning with a bogie five on the first hole but tightened up and played well for two birdies and an eagle on the out 9 for 34. His second nine score of 36 gave him a 70. He was one over par on the out 9 this afternoon but matched perfect figures for every hole coming in for a 35 and the 72 total.

Turnesa won the Miami open this year. His fine play in the early rounds established him as one of the favorites to win the North and South open.

Hyatt Leads Dixie Contingent.

Freddie Hyatt, of Charlotte, set the pace for Southern golfers entered with a 146, while no less than seven real threats were grouped at 147. These included Tommy Armour, Detroit, who slowed down this afternoon after equaling perfect figures in the first round; Horton Smith, also of Detroit, 1929 winner; Harry Cooper, Chicago; Ed Dudley, Wilmington, Del.; Henry Ciuci, Bridgeport, Conn., and Al Espinosa, Chicago.

Paul Runyan, White Plains, N. Y., surprise winner last year, followed at 148 in tie with Wild Bill Mehlhorn. Runyan took 76 strokes on the first round, but settled down for a 72 on the second 18 holes. Mehlhorn also found better luck this afternoon, scoring 70 after a 78 for the opening round.

Seven professionals were bracketed at 149. They were John Kinder, Caldwell, N. J.; Willie McFarlane, Tuxhanoe, N. Y.; Denny Shute, Columbus, Ohio; Roland Hancock, Lynchburg, Va.; Tom Creavy, Albany, N. Y.; Charles Guest, Los Angeles, and Eddie Williams, of Cleveland. Williams went to pieces in the second round after finishing the first round with a 70.

Such well-known figures as Walter Hagen, Craig Wood, Frank Walsh, Joe Kirkwood, and Tom Kerrigan qualified, but were back in the 150s.

Only two amateurs will play tomorrow. They are John DeForrest, of London, England, who had 157, and Alan Smyth, of Chapel Hill, N. C., with 158.

La Barba and Francis Fight in Garden Tonight

New York, March 26 (A.P.).—Two bustling featherweights, Fidel LaBarba and Kid Francis, will battle ten rounds in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night and the winner will stand forth as just about the best in his division.

LaBarba whipped Kid Chocolate, the "Cuban Bon Bon," a few months ago in the Garden ring and more recently Francis outpunched Eddie Shea, a rugged little man from Chicago. Between them they have accounted for about all the prominent 126-pounders with the exception of the class champion, Bat Battalino, who isn't interested.

Miss Van Wie Leads Midsouth Golf Field

Southern Pines, N. C., March 26 (A. P.).—Virginia Van Wie flashed around the championship course here seven strokes under women's par today for a 76 and a substantial lead at the half-way mark of the Mid-South women's 36-hole medal play tournament.

The Chicago girl, runner-up last year to Glenna Collett in the national women's championship, held a four-stroke advantage over Edith Quier, of Reading, Pa., who put a 41 and a 39 together for an 80 total.

Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City veteran, and Bernice Wall, of Oshkosh, Wis., each with an 83, appeared to be the only other contenders in the field of more than 80 performers who held open an outside chance of overtaking Miss Van Wie on the final eighteen holes tomorrow.

Mac Smith in Scotland, Awaiting British Open

London, March 26 (A.P.).—Macdonald Smith, first of the overseas aspirants for Bobby Jones British open golf title, arrived in Plymouth today and immediately set out for Scotland and his old home town of Carnoustie, where the championship will be decided in June.

Smith tied with Leo Diegel, two strokes back of Bobby Jones in the 1930 British open, and was runner-up to the Georgia master in the American open play.

U. S. Holding Strong Hand In Grand National Today

Eleven American-Owned Horses in British Classic Field of 43 With Whitney Pair Favorites; Perfect Weather for Crowd.

LIVERPOOL, England, March 26 (A.P.).—Over the fields of Aintree, over hedge and fence and brook, eleven horses tomorrow will carry American colors against the world in the ninety-second renewal of the Grand National Steeplechase, the most gruelling and sporting test of thoroughbred horseflesh yet devised.

Pitted against this American phalanx, the most promising entry from the other side of the water in years, are 32 horses of British and European birth and registry.

Leading the American contingent are John Hay (Jock) Whitney's two great jumpers, Easter Hero and Sir Lindsay, both favorites in the betting odds; Victor Emanuel's Rhyticere and Royal Arch II, Mrs. Chester Beatty's Swift Rowland, M. D. Blair's Great Span and Ballyhanwood, Stephen (Laddie) Sanford's Sandy Hook, R. K. Mellon's Alike and Glangesia, and Gordon Selfridge's Ruddyman.

Whitney Favorite With Crowd.

Whitney's horses are the favorites with the crowds as well as with the bettors, not alone on their ability but also because of Whitney's personal popularity in Great Britain. The young American sportsman has been trying for several years to win the classic race, and Great Britain feels this year he has his best chance. Never yet has an American-bred, American-owned horse won it.

Prominent in the field against America are R. Davis' Gib, Capt. Brownhill's Drintyre, carrying the chief hopes and money of England; C. R. Taylor's Grakle, and A. Bendon's Drin.

Easter Hero is the most heavily weighted, carrying 175 pounds, with Gib in next at 173; Shaun Goilin, last year's winner at 172, and Gregalach, which beat the American Billy Barton in 1929, at 168. Neither Shaun Goilin nor Gregalach is greatly fancied by the crowds of bettors.

Crowds Pour Into Liverpool.

Almost perfect weather greeted the crowds which poured into Liverpool during the day, with sunshine and a crisp wind giving promise of good conditions for the morrow.

Prominent in the crowd are many of the Long Island sportsmen who love a horse and a horse race as much as do the English—Mr. and Mrs. William C. Langley, A. C. Bostwick, Mrs. W. Goadby Loew, who served for several years as master of the Hartford (Md.) Hunt; Mr. and Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark, of Meadow Brook; Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Iselin, Gifford A. Cochran, jr., Mrs. Sparks Burton and many others.

A radio hook-up will carry description of the race all over England and the Continent and by short waves to North America, starting at 9:45 a. m. (New York time).

U. S. Horses Disappoint In 2 Liverpool Races

Liverpool, March 26 (A.P.).—American horses fared badly today in the preliminary steeplechases opening the Liverpool spring meeting and serving as a curtain raiser for tomorrow's Grand National.

Six American owned horses competed in the Stanley Steeplechase and Liverpool Spring Cup, with J. H. (Jock) Whitney's Dusty finishing fourth in the first race for the best American showing.

Behind Dusty Foot and unplaced in the Stanley Cup was Whitney's Knight of the Galtees.

Mr. Chester Beatty's Great Scott, M. D. Blair's Prince Cherry, A. C. Bostwick's Sunbrown, and Victor Emanuel's Nosiamas ran in the 84th renewal of the Liverpool Cup, but were unplaced in the large field.

One Knockout On Amateur Program

O'Connor, of Red Sox A. C., Stops Hall, of Legion.

Decision Given Nebel Over Van Sciver Is Booed.

A LONE knockout marked the opening night's program of the District of Columbia Amateur Athletic Union boxing championships last night at the Rockville High School, with five bouts going the regualtion three rounds to decisions and the remaining match ending in a foul in the first round.

M. J. O'Connor, Red Sox Athletic Club 160-pounder, stopped Ben Hall, of the American Legion team, in 1 minute and 45 seconds in a clean knockout before a disappointingly small crowd in the next to last bout of the program. Hall, with a great advantage in height and reach, started with a rush and appeared to have the stockier O'Connor at his mercy, but a stiff righttto the mouth stopped Hall's rushing tactics and slowed him so perceptibly he was ripe for the finishing blow while on the ropes.

Rockville Lightweight Wins on Foul.

Benjamin F. Reed, Rockville's only hope in the tournament, advanced to the semifinal round in the 135-pound class when he was fouled by Jack De Lacey, of the American Legion.

The first night's program was a partial success for the legion boxers, who won two of their five fights. All three of the Boys Club contestants were beaten, while Leon Shub, 118-pounder, the lone Jewish Community Center hope on the card, won his match.

A chorus of boos greeted the decision favoring J. Frank Nebel, of the Washington Canoe Club, over Warren Van Sciver, unattached, after three rounds. Van Sciver appeared to have piled up a huge advantage with an effective left jab and was the recipient of very few punches. Although Referee Denny Hughes and one judge awarded Van Sciver the decision, the remaining judges voted in favor of Nebel.

118-POUND CLASS—Leon Shub (J. C. C.) defeated William Reed (B. C.), decision, 3 rounds.

125-POUND CLASS—Benjamin F. Reed (Rockville A. A.) defeated Jack De Lacey on foul.

160-POUND CLASS—J. Frank Nebel (Washington Canoe Club) defeated Warren Van Sciver (unattached), decision, 3 rounds.

THE dove does not deserve to be called the "bird of peace," for although doves are usually shy and timid, at mating time they fight even among themselves.

Before the time of Bach all musicians who played on the organ, the harpsichord, and the clavier, habitually used only the first three fingers. Bach commenced using all five fingers of each hand and gave us our modern system of fingering.

The pigmy hippo inhabits rivers in Western Africa. Although it is a blood relation to the big hippo, which attains a length of 14 feet, the pigmy is about the size of a pig.

The Rose of Jericho is found in the deserts of Arabia and the Holy Land. When the soil becomes too dry, the leaves of the plant dry and curl up into a ball. At the first puff of wind the ball goes flying across the desert. It has broken its roots and has all the appearances of being dead. Yet when it reaches a moist spot it takes root and starts growing all over again. For this reason it is sometimes called the resurrection plant.

League Ruling Is Bar to Rookie

Sandlotter First Must Be Signed by Minor League Club.

Art of Base Running Occupies Morning Workout.

By FRANK H YOUNG
(Post Staff Correspondent).

BILOXI, Miss., March 26.—Outfielder Leo Burns, one of the two proteges of Shortstop Joe Cronin, leaves here tonight to join Joe Engel's Chattanooga Lookouts. The sudden decision to send Burns was made because Alvin (Jake) Powell, Washington boy, has not been showing up as well as was expected and Engel needs help.

The recently adopted draft agreement between the majors and minors provides that sandlotters, and other free agents who have never played in the big time circuit, may not be signed by a major league club but must come up via the minors. Hence, it is now learned, Burns has been training here under a Chattanooga contract and not a Washington one.

Both Manager Walter Johnson and many of the players predict a bright baseball future for Burns. He can field in big league style now and has good action at the plate. There are one or two batting weaknesses which must be ironed out and if Burns does not make good with the Lookouts and come back for trial next season, all of the "experts" here will be greatly disappointed.

Elemental Base Running Practiced.

Although this morning's practice session was halted for a short time by rain, much good was accomplished. Base running came in for attention and every phase of this department of play was touched on. Following much running around the paths and practicing hitting the bases with the proper foot, came some interesting and instructive sliding lessons with several of the veterans acting as teachers.

While all this was going on on the diamond, Coach Gharrity was giving some of the younger pitchers some pointers. "Lefty" Lynn Griffith came in for most attention. Not only have some faults been found with his balance while working with men on bases, but he also has been having a different motion for his fast and slow or half-speed deliveries. The youngster toiled for nearly an hour trying to correct these faults and made considerable progress.

The surprise of the session proved to be Art (Slim) Fidler. Soon after this lanky Canadian took the mound in batting practice, those "up" came back to the bench with the warning to their mates that if they were not careful "the big fellow will knock your stick out of your hands." His fast one had such a hop to it that, with a shower coming up and the skies getting black, Manager Johnson suggested that he let up a little so the batters could see the ball.

Catchers Report Minor Hurts.

Two minor injuries were reported, both in the catching department. Cliff Bolton first was sent to Trainer Mike Martin for ice pack treatment for a badly bruised leg when a foul hit him just above his right knee, while another foul temporarily put Bill (Pinky) Hargrave out of commission.

In this latter accident, a foul from Dave Harris' bat hit Pinky just below his Adam's apple and took a weird skid down his chest front, wedging in underneath the chest protector.

President Clark Griffith, Manager Johnson, the Nat coaches and the scribes were the guests at a banquet tendered tonight by the Biloxi Chamber of Commerce. Senator Pat Harrison was among the speakers. Altrock and Schacht furnished the entertainment and the town firemen were the waiters, the affair being held in the hook and ladder house. A good time was had by all.

A boat ride on a Coast Guard cutter to which the entire Washington Club party was invited, has been postponed from tomorrow until Monday. Rough weather forecast for tomorrow was the cause of this shift in dates.

Manush Favoring Injured Leg.

Outfielder Heinie Manush, who has been working under wraps, announced that he is ready for the season. "I gave myself a test in yesterday's game," he said this morning, "just to see if I could step out, and I'm satisfied that I'm O. K. I've been taking no chances with that leg of mine that I hurt last season, and don't expect to until the bell rings. I've felt one or two little twinges in it, and from now on am going to nurse it and try to get it normal by easy stages."

DEBUT OF MD. BALL TEAM UNCERTAIN

Condition of Field at V. P. I. May Delay Southern Trip.

INCLEMENT weather conditions which have prevailed all week at Blacksburg, Va., may force the postponement of Maryland's 1931 baseball debut, against Virginia Poly, scheduled for tomorrow afternoon in the Virginia city.

Whether or not the game will be played depends on a report of playing conditions which Coach Burton Shipley of the Old Liners will receive today from C. P. Miles, director of athletics at Virginia Poly.

If it is decided to play the game, Coach Shipley and fourteen players will entrain for Blacksburg at 10:30 o'clock tonight. If a postponement is decided upon, however, then the Marylanders will not leave Washington until next Sunday night, proceeding to Lexington, Va., where Washington and Lee will be met on Monday and Virginia Military Institute on Tuesday.

Play Georgia Two Games.

Next Wednesday and Thursday the Old Liners are listed to engage Georgia at Athens, Friday they will cross bats with North Carolina at Chapel Hill, concluding their Easter vacation trip by opposing North Carolina State at Raleigh Saturday, April 1.

The following players are slated to accompany Coach Shipley on the jaunt: Louis Berger, "Hammy" Derr, Shorty Chalmers, and Hymie Gorman, infielders; Bill Cramer, Ed Maxwell, Paul Cronin, and Bob Wilson, outfielders; Jack Batson, Bill Milburn, Harry Hess, and Arthur Hauver, pitchers, and Ralph Sterling. The other berth will lie between Pitcher Bowen and Catcher Buck Miller.

HILLTOP NINE VICTOR OVER V. M. I., 10-3

Noble Pounded Out in Fifth; Catch by Bozek Feature.

Special to The Washington Post.

LEXINGTON, Va., March 26.—Georgetown University today defeated the Virginia Military Institute in the first baseball game of the season on Alumni Field, by the score of 10 to 3.

The game was featured by ragged fielding and many errors by the home team. Noble was driven to the showers in the fifth inning by a barrage of base hits and was supplanted by Mason, who also failed to hold the heavy hitters of the Georgetown team.

The most spectacular play of the afternoon was Bozek's one-hand catch of Mason's long fly to right field.

Wholle led the teams at bat, getting three hits out of four times at bat and scoring three runs. Georgetown displayed a heady brand of baseball throughout, taking full advantage of every misstep of the Cadets.

Fan in Contest Nat Follower Since 1886

WILLIAM B. HOLTZCLAW, of 1801 Wyoming avenue, a veteran baseball fan and observer of the Washington team since 1886—the year it entered big league competition—joined The Washington Post's Box Seat Contest yesterday with a comprehensive letter to the "Baseball Editor," giving his opinions on where he believes the 1931 edition of the team will finish.

"The Nationals have a splendid competitive spirit, are confident, harmonious, have good habits, team work, the best defensive infield, the best pitching, no bad actors, better substitutes, good trainers and strategists. They may not win, but their chances are excellent," says Mr. Holtzclaw in the letter's general summation.

Washington should win more games from St. Louis this year, but this advantage will be offset by the fact that they are going to lose more to the Yankees. They can expect to win no more often from Philadelphia than last year, for while the Athletics are a two-pitcher club, Grove and Earnshaw, those two worthies will be doing the work of three men this year. The winning of more games in the West, however, is the big factor in Washington's impending rise in the American League, Mr. Holtzclaw states.

Bluege is the best fielding third baseman Mr. Holtzclaw ever saw, and that includes John McGraw, Jerry, Denny, Jimmy Collins, Bill Bradley and Pie Traynor, of the 1925 world series. If Hayes shows he can hit .300 he should replace Myer, Mr. Holtzclaw believes.

Well! There's a letter that goes way back. Those six box seats are more and more in danger of being won each day. The contest closes April 1. Keep your prophecies to 250 words and write only on one side of the paper.

Dempsey Makes Dramatic Offer To Fight Wills as Suit Is Heard

CHICAGO, March 26 (A.P.).—Jack Dempsey has said he would not fight again, but the old spirit is still there. He forgot all about his retirement today during the Coliseum Club's $500,000 breach of contract suit against him, and offered to battle Harry Wills any time the plaintiff produces money to cover terms of the disputed contract.

Dempsey's offer was made dramatically while Paddy Mullins, manager of the Negro heavyweight, was testifying.

"Let 'em put up the money; 'll fight him right now," he cried.

The Coliseum Club, of which E. B. Clements is president, is suing the former heavyweight ruler for failure to meet the New York Negro before Dempsey lost his title to Gene Tunney in Philadelphia in 1926. Dempsey has claimed that there was no contract as the Coliseum Club failed to make an advance payment of $125,000 to bind the agreement. He also was to have received an additional $625,000 before the fight.

Clements retorted that he would raise the money and that Dempsey would receive $300,000 by August if he meant what he said about fighting Wills. Dempsey insisted he was ready any time. Nothing has ben heard from Wills, although he was to have appeared to testify.

BILL WERBER FARMED TO TOLEDO

Washington Youth Is Released on Option by Yankees.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 26 (A.P.).—Release of Bill Werber, shortstop who spent last season with Albany, in the Eastern League, and Fred Walker, rookie outfielder from Jersey City, to the Toledo Club, of the American Association, was announced today by the New York Yankee management. Both will go out on option.

Bob Gibson, a first baseman purchased by the Yankees from Richmond, Ind., last year, has been released on option to Albany.

Werber was one of the brightest stars ever to grace a baseball field in the Washington interhigh school series while playing third base for Tech for four seasons. At Duke University his play attracted the attention of big-league scouts and he was offered a large bonus to sign with the Yankees last June upon graduation.

Farmed to Albany in midsummer, he led the Eastern League at bat and was counted upon to remain with the Yankees this season until the signing of Joe Sewell, veteran Cleveland infielder, by the New York Club.

Athletics Blank Reds, 4-0.

Orlando, Fla., March 26 (A.P.).—The Philadelphia Athletics first team shut out the Cincinnati Reds in an exhibition game here today by the score of 4 to 0.

Lefty Grove pitched a perfect inning. In the second inning he whiffed only three pitches over the plate, Cuccinello, Roettger and Kistler each hitting the first ball offered into the hands of a waiting Mackman.

The winning run was scored in the ninth inning off Stiles, when Frank Pytlack, young Buffalo catcher, singled to right to score Mueller.

San Antonio, Tex., March 26 (A.P.).—The White Sox managed to tie the score in the ninth inning today, but sagged and lost to San Antonio of the Texas League, 12 to 10.

Rookie pitchers failed to keep the Indians in check, Bob Weiland and John Intlekofer and Caraway all being driven from the mound.

Frisco Again Wins Over Cubs.

San Francisco, Calif., March 26 (A. P.).—The San Francisco Seals made it two straight over the Chicago Cubs by winning today's exhibition game here, 4 to 3.

The Coast Leaguers landed on the offerings of Ed Baecht, right-hander from Los Angeles, making his major league debut this season, for four runs and seven hits in five innings.

Jimmy Zinn, who tied with Baecht as leading pitcher in the Coast League last season, hurled the first six innings for the Seals, allowing all of the Cubs runs in the third. All of the National Leaguers' six hits were made off him. Bill Henderson, who relieved Zinn, pitched shut-out ball.

Rain Halts Training Of Indians.

Gulfport, Miss., March 26 (A.P.).—Efforts of Roger Peckinpaugh to give his Cleveland Indian pitchers some work against strong opposition are going awry. For the second time in three scheduled games with the Baltimore Orioles, rain interfered here today. The Indians won the one game played, 6 to 3. The Clevelanders have very few training games scheduled with teams above the class A rating of the New Orleans Southern Association nine.

Ruth Dons Whiskers Against House of David

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 26 (A.P.).—The Yankees made merry today at the expense of the bewhiskered House of David nine from Benton Harbor, Mich. Two rookie hurlers, big Jim Weaver and Vernon Gomez, combined to shut the patriarchs out with only two hits, 5 to 0, while Babe Ruth cavorted in right field in a set of false whiskers.

Lefty Swaney, who formerly pitched in the International League, was touched for 11 hits but he escaped severe damage until a cluster of four drove in three runs in the sixth. Joe Sewell hit a double and single.

Lawyer Sues Carnera For $2,500 for Fees

Philadelphia, March 26 (A.P.).—Primo Carnera, Italian heavyweight boxer, who is appearing in a Philadelphia theater, today was made defendant in a suit for $2,500 by Adrian Donnelly, Philadelphia lawyer.

Donnelly contends he was not paid $2,500 counsel fees for representing Carnera last year before the Immigration Bureau at Washington when the boxer's permit to visit in this country was extended.

Carnera's pay for his week's engagement here and his possessions were attached. Leon See, his manager, was named codefendant.

REDS OBTAIN ROUSH ON WAIVERS

Outfield Ace Who Was Idle Last Year Is Reinstated.

CINCINNATI, March 26 (A.P.).—Eddie Roush, veteran center fielder and the greatest outfield star the Cincinnati Reds ever possessed, was obtained today by Sidney Weil, Reds' president, from the New York Giants for the National League waiver price.

Roush made his reputation of one of the National League's smartest fielders and sluggers while playing with the Reds from 1916 to 1926. He formerly led the league in batting.

Roush had a salary difference with the Giants last year and remained out of the game during 1930. He recently was reinstated in good standing.

Weil secured Roush after Harry Heilmann who led the Reds at bat last season, was attacked with arthritis in the right wrist which will keep him out of the line-up for weeks.

Tigers Beat Pirates By Homer in Ninth.

Los Angeles, Calif., March 26 (A.P.).—A home run in the ninth gave the Detroit Tigers a 11 to 10 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates in an exhibition contest here today. 5 SEMIFINAL GAMES IN POST COURT PLAY TONIGHT

St. Martin's, Scholastics To Clash

Olmsteds - Optimists Meet in 130-Pound Class Feature.

Charlottesville Plays Mt. Rainier's 100-Pound Quintet.

HAVING made way for the District A. A. U.'s boxing card, the sixth annual Washington Post-A. A. U. basket ball title play will swing back into the center of the spotlight tonight at Tech High with five semifinal round games and a quarter-final round struggle serving as the delectable sports menu for the night.

Court experts are looking to the 9 o'clock game between the Potomac Boat Club Scholastics and the St. Martin's Big Five as the game which promises to bring the most of the patrons to the edges of their seats. This is the lone quarter-final match left to be played in the tournament, and brings together two unlimited foes bound to produce fireworks.

Mixture of Stars With Scholastics.

The Scholastics have a mixture of stars hardly equaled by any other team in the tournament, with the possible exception of the United Typewriter United. Composed in the main of varsity players from the Eastern High School quint, joint holders of the 1931 high school championship, the Scholastics also number in their ranks such performers as Everett Johnson, Tech High guard; Delmar Cosgrove, of Gallaudet, and Bobbie McVean, of Catholic University. The Eastern players are Big Bill Noonan, all-high center; Dallas Shirley, all-high guard; Bernie Lieb, all-high forward, and Barnie Kane, captain of the Eastern squad.

The St. Martin's team created one of the biggest upsets of the tournament when they defeated the seeded Griffith-Consumers, 27-25.

Optimists Will Test Olmsted Grill.

Eight clubs on the floor tonight will be fighting for the honor of advancing into the final round of their respective divisions. Both finalists will be decided in the junior girls' division. In the opening contests of the night's round of basket ball, at 7 o'clock, the Montrose Girls will meet the Hyattsville sextette on one side of the barrier which cuts the far-flung Tech court in two, while an hour later the Rockville Girls and the Alexandria Buddies will fight it out to decide the other finalist in this class.

The Charlottesville five, winners of the 100-pound division last year and now a semfinalist in the 115-pound class, will attempt to get by the determined Mount Rainier Juniors in what promises to be the featured 7 o'clock game.

The Olmsted Grill Team, which has started out slowly in every game it has played and then proceeded to ring up a huge score, will have its hands more than full tonight with the Boys Club Optimists in the 130-pound division. The Optimists are anxious to become the second Boys' Club outfit to win gold besket balls for themselves this tournament. The 100-pound Optimimts achieved that goal Wednesday night when they won their class finals.

Holding the last spot on the card, but a spot which is sure to run the P. B. C. Scholastics-St. Martin's game a good race for interest laurels will be the semifinal round contest between the Colonials and the Crescents. The battle brings together the winners of the Community Center League, the Crescents, and a team made up of George Washington University players. It more than promises to hold in the others.

Women Gain Finals In U. S. Net Doubles

Brookline, Mass., March 26 (A.P.).—Mrs. George Wightman and her start protege, Sarah Palfrey, defending champions in the women's national indoor tennis doubles play, gained the final round here today by defeating Mrs. J. Lewis Bremer and Mrs. G. R. Harding, both of Boston, 7—5, 6—3, on the Longwood covered court.

The other last bracket was clinched by Mrs. C. J. Hubbard, jr., Cambridge, and Margaret Blake, of Lenox, when they defeated Mrs. J. D. Corbrere, of Southboro, and Mrs. William Endicott, Boston, in an extra set semifinal match by scores of 4—6, 6—3, 6—1.

The defending mixed doubles champions, Margaret Blake, Lenox, and Richard Harte, Boston, had an easy advance, overcoming Marion King, Washington, and Fred Broida, Boston, 6—0, 6—1.

Phils' Pilot Suspends Rookie Battery Men

Winter Haven, Fla., March 26 (A.P.).—Gene Connell and Johnny Milligan, young Phillies battery, were suspended by Manager Burt Shotton today for infraction of the training rules. Milligan, former Cornell pitcher, and Connell, who starred in baseball and basket ball at the University of Pennsylvania, remained in Tampa last night withoutp ermission. Their suspension was Shotton's first disciplinary move this spring.

The Phillies broke camp tonight and prepared to leave on a leisurely trip home, stopping for exhibition games at a number of points enroute.

THE PERFECT DIAMONDS.

The Sammy Wests, midget champions of the Capital City League last year, will be sponsored for the coming season by the Charles Schwartz & Son Co., and will be known as Schwartz Perfect Diamonds.

An important meeting of the team is scheduled tonight at 4303 Ninth street northwest.

VA. MAY QUIT SCHOLASTIC BASEBALL

Special to The Washington Post.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., March 26.—The State high school baseball championship is to be done away with, and high school golf and swimming tournaments seem probable for the near future, according to an announcement here today by Charles H. Kauffman, executive secretary of the Virginia High School Literary and Athletic League.

These and other changes of athletic policy were included in the report of the recent annual meeting of the legislative council of the league.

The baseball committee, L. H. McCue, chairman, recommended that there be no more State championships in baseball, only district champions being recognized for classes A and B; that whether or not a school sponsors baseball he left entirely to its own discretion, and that the individual schools arrange their own schedules, subject to certain modifications by the district committee. After considerable discussion, these recommendations were unanimously adopted.

Golf for Schools Interested.

The golf and swimming committee disagree on the subject of a golf tournament, as it was maintained that golf is an individual game and not suited for interscholastic competition. It was finally decided that a golf tournament be arranged for those schools interested in this sport for the spring of 1932, and that a committee be appointed to study golf as a high school sport.

Suggestions to the reclassification committee included the recommendation that the minimum enrollment in Class A schools be limited to 750 students, all schools now in that class retaining their present status. It was also recommended that as soon as definite reclassification action is taken a schedule of games for Class A schools be drawn up on a three, four or five year program; that all teams under the organization be required to accept this program, and that all other schools applying for Class A membership be deferred until the termination of the three, four or five year period. Elimination of forced competition between Classes A and B, B and C schools was recommended.

Legion to Sponsor Golf Tourney Here in June

An amateur golf tournament, sponsored by the District of Columbia department of the American Legion, will be held early in June for the legion devotees of the sport. Post Commander John Lewis Smith yesterday announced that he would present a permanent trophy and that the winner would receive a replica.

The legion will also sponsor a junior event with a special trophy donated by Capt. Watson B. Miller.

The scene of both tournaments will be announced later.

CUTS IN DIVIDENDS SEND STOCKS DOWN

Bullish Enthusiasm Cools Even for Specialties, Recent Favorites.

New York, March 26 (A.P.).—Stocks settled slowly today, influenced by another batch of dividend reductions and a cooling of bullish enthusiasm even for the specialties. Other financial markets gave better accounts of themselves, except for weakness of foreign bonds.

Shares opened with mild irregularity and soon showed partiality for lower quotations. A handful of relatively unimportant issues bucked the trend, perhaps half a dozen of them making new highs, but the cut in the Anaconda dividend, followed closely by the downward revision of the Lackawanna rate, quickened the decline. Coppers and rails weakened, and by midafternoon the oils had joined the easy-going descent. Standards of New Jersey and California, as well as Texas Corporation, Skelly preferred, Lackawanna and Louisville & Nashville, broke under their previous lows for the year. In no part of the list, however, was selling particularly heavy. Net losses were bewteen 1 and 3 points in a turnover of 2,600,000 shares.

Numerous individual movements stood out. Bohn Aluminum got to a new high in response to a bullish earnings forecast. Goodyear Rubber, whose directors meet for dividend action next week, dropped more than 3 points. U. S. Industrial Alcohol went below 50 for the first time in several years after a reduction in prices had been announced, and Wilson & Co. preferred sagged sharply when no action was taken on its dividend.

American Can Turns Heavy.

American Can, the only market leader to make a new high, turned heavy, joining U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors and Union Carbide in net losses of 1 to 1¾. Anaconda tumbled 3, and there was sympathetic, although less extensive, weakness in Kennecott and American Smelting.

Whatever degree of improvement may have come this month with the approach of Easter, merchandise turnover in this Federal Reserve District during February was slow. Wholesaling volume was off 24 per cent from a year ago, the same as in January, while the 4 per cent loss in chain store sales was larger than in the previous month. Department store business, however, lost 6 per cent as compared with 8 per cent in January.

Calls by the Treasury on proceeds of its recent financing led to a stiffening of the call money rate to 2 per cent. Firmness would be in order for the next few days because of preparations for the month-end, but banks anticipate no immediate change in the general easiness of credit.

England's Gold Bullion.

Gains in the Bank of England's gold bullion continued in the past week, while the increase at Paris was about nominal.

Wheat was firm, closing half a cent higher to a quarter lower, but as easy cash market and a bearish Argentine crop estimate gave an easy start to corn, which lost fractional amounts. Cotton rallied after an early decline in a dull market, although futures were slightly off on the day.

Easiness of the French franc caused some talk as to the possibility of gold shipments from Paris, but the exchange still has about a point to go before imports here would be profitable. Sterling was steady, helped by the continued gains in gold at the Bank of England.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, March 26 (A.P.).—July wheat delivery led a brisk rally in grain prices late today, and brought about a general advance in all wheat except September contracts. Extensive closing of spreads between July and September wheat was largely responsible for the price bulge, which resulted from heavy buying here chasing off wheat matching sales of corn. The various maneuvers were associated with predictions in some circles that the first crush of domestic winter wheat from the harvest fields would be in July or August because of likelihood of an abnormal premium for old wheat at the end of the season in June.

Wheat closed irregular, ¾ cent lower to 1⅛ cents higher, the latter for the June delivery. Corn closed ⅛@⅜ down, oats unchanged to ⅛ up, and provisions at 5 to 12 cents decline.

Fear of possible crop damage from a cold wave heading down over the Southwest was given in some quarters as one of the factors that stimulated buying of wheat, but most traders apparently believed that new crop growth was not far enough advanced to make material injury probable. Aside from the chance of some damage by the cold wave, weather conditions were construed as bearish. Rain or snow being almost general from Canada to northern Texas. These conditions were effective temporarily in causing price declines during the first half of the day, together with apparent dearth of export business in North American wheat.

In the late session July wheat scored a gain of 3 cents a bushel from the recent low point. The Government report indicative of farmers' intentions to curtail spring wheat planting to the smallest acreage since 1924 was a factor in the rally. No definite unofficial estimates having been circulated prior to the issue of the Washington figures which came after the market had closed. In the final fifteen minutes, some selling developed as a result of talk that the Canadian government would not further finance operations of the Canadian grower pool. Relative weakness of corn followed fading-out of buying power. Corn followed picked up sharply in the day previous. Another bearish influence was an estimate that the new Argentine corn crop would total 425,000,000 bushels, pointing to an exportable surplus of 82,000,000 bushels more than Argentina's entire crop last year. Data derived firmness from persistent cashings of receipts.

Provisions reflected downturn in hog values.

RECESSION OF BOND PRICES IRREGULAR

Further Weakness Is Shown by Few Obligations in Foreign Section.

New York, March 26 (A.P.).—The bond market declined irregularly today.

Further weakness in Australian obligations was the outstanding feature of the foreign group. The announcement of Premier Lang of New South Wales that the interest on its bonds due on April 1 in London would not be met preceded recessions of 6½ and 4 points, respectively, in the 5s of 1957 and the 5s of 1958 of that state, although the interest charges on the dollar loans will be met. The 5s of 1956 and of 1957 of the Commonwealth Government dropped more than 7 points each; the 5½s of Sydney, the two issues of 5s and the 6s of Brisbane all lost several points. Queensland 6s and 7s closed fractionally lower. Recessions in Australian obligations were more marked than in other foreign issues, but the decline was general for that group.

The decline in railroad bonds slackened somewhat, although a number of February earnings reports showed further decreases in net operating income. Baltimore & Ohio Series D 5s and the refunding 5s of 1995, Great Northern 5s of 1973, International Great Northern Series B 5s and Missouri Pacific Series I 5s were among the rail obligations to reflect selling pressure.

Reports are current that an offering of $50,000,000 of bonds for the flotation of $10,000,000 of construction mortgage bonds for the Morris & Essex, a unit in the Lackawanna System, is reported also.

Loew's 6s, with warrants, dropped more than a point. The warrants on this issue expire on April 1. Most other bonds with stock conversion or purchase privileges were lower on small sales.

Obligations of the United States Government made small losses, except the Fourth Liberty 4¼s, which experienced the largest sales.

Utility bonds were usually steady, but industrial issues were easy.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

BICENTENNIAL BODY IN COUNTY ELECTS

Officers Are Named by Arlington Group to Aid in 1932 Celebration.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Meeting at the offices of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission, the executive committee of the Arlington County Bicentennial Commission yesterday perfected its organization, electing Arthur Orr, president of the council, as its chairman and Mrs. Dorothy Dunn, as secretary.

The first act of the committee was to invite the three members of the county board of supervisors and Fletcher Kemp, superintendent of county public schools, to accept membership on the council. The plan of the organization provides that five county officials shall be members of the council, but the selection of the fifth official was deferred until a later meeting.

Mr. Kemp, who already had indicated his willingness to become a member of the council, was appointed chairman of a general committee on public school activities in connection with the bicentennial celebration.

The following ways and means committee was appointed to devise plans for raising funds necessary for the work of the council: Albert H. Cohen, chairman; Arthur J. Porter, Harry A. Fellows and A. B. Honts.

The committee voted to accept the offer of Louis C. Carl, president of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce, of the trade body's office in the Kelley Building at Clarendon to be used as headquarters.

The Creative Arts Club of the county was invited to have its members submit designs for posters and other artistic creations to the publicity committee.

A county beautification contest committee was created to conduct a general county clean-up campaign with a series of awards for the best community in the county, the best street in each community, the best home in each community, and grand sweepstakes prizes for the best home and street in the county. It was decided that the rules of the contest be so drawn that the humble cottage may compete on equal terms with the home of the millionaire, the size of the estate and the expensiveness of the treatment to be disregarded by the judges.

Walter F. Sunderman was appointed chairman of the beautification committee, the other members to be announced at a later date.

What promises to be the leading factor in the selection of a slate of five candidates for membership on the county board under the new form of county government will be the organization of civic and business leaders of the county tonight at Clarendon.

The personnel of the organization, it is understood, will comprise at least seven representatives from each of the eleven voting precincts in the county.

Leaders in the movement have advanced the information that it will not be the purpose of the organization to draft the slate of five candidates until all who aspire to the office have announced their intentions of becoming candidates.

Despite the fact that the movement has been under way for some time and no official information been given out, it is understood that the organization when perfected will represent a group of leaders in Arlington County who are not considering party lines.

Whether this organization will consider taking any active part in the selection of any other persons for any of the other county officers, all of which will be chosen at the election to be held in November, could not be learned.

The building of a connecting link with the Mount Vernon boulevard, the widening of Frazier avenue and the expenditure of the remaining road fund of Jefferson District within the district was the sense of resolutions adopted at a mass meeting of the citizens held last night in the Jefferson District Firemen's Hall.

The meeting was called by G. O. Basham, president of the Jefferson District Citizens Association, for the purpose of demanding that the wishes of the citizens for a connection with the Mount Vernon boulevard be granted.

It was pointed out in connection with the boulevard link that the Bureau of Public Roads of the Department of Agriculture has made provision for one connection with the boulevard between the Highway Bridge and Alexandria, but that no action has as yet been taken by the county to take advantage of the entrance.

The resolution asks that the county construct as soon as practical a road connecting Frazier avenue, or a nearby street, with the Mount Vernon boulevard. The Federal Government, it was stated, has already constructed the Cloverleaf Bridge at a cost of approximately $120,000 and this structure, which is on an almost direct line with Frazier avenue, would be available to the county in reaching the boulevard.

The resolution, with respect to the expending of the remainder of the Jefferson District road fund within the district only, is taken as an attempt to forestall the financial participation of this ristrict in the construction of the "Oil Plant" road from Rosslyn to the north wall of the Arlington National Cemetery. This road is all within Arlington District, but the supervisor from Jefferson District has agreed to share in cost of its construction, recognizing that it will be of great benefit to his district as well as Arlington District.

Frank G. Campbell was elected chairman and presided at the meeting, with John G. Gall acting as secretary.

MARYLAND DRIVER INSURANCE LOOMS

Altfeld Bill Is Passed by Senate to Third Reading; Milk Quiz Off.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., March 26.—That the Maryland Legislature will adopt some form of compulsory automobile liability insurance seemed likely today when the Senate passed to a third-reading the bill by Senator Altfeld, of Baltimore City, which would require insurance of drivers who have been involved in accidents, while the House committee on insurance and loans directed a hearing on a more sweeping measure by Delegate Gorfine, of Baltimore City.

The Altfeld bill would require the commissioner of motor vehicles to suspend licenses of all operators convicted of driving while drunk, hit and run drivers, killing a person by reason of violating any motor law, and those against whom judgment has been issued by courts following automobile accidents. Liability insurance of $10,000 for personal injuries, and $1,000 for property damage would be required of all persons where licenses had once been withheld.

Delegate Gorfine's bill provides for a motor compensation insurance commission of three members, which through its agents would investigate all accidents, with power to make payments from a State fund upon claims for compensation from persons hurt in mishaps and to dependents of persons killed in accidents.

Dr. George Edmonds, Montgomery County, chairman of the inquest committee of the House, indicated today there would be no investigation of the milk situation in Maryland.

Chairman Edmonds said it is too late in the session to undertake such an inquest, and expressed doubt that it would accomplish any purpose.

Over the protest of the Allegany County delegation, the House today passed a Senate bill which includes that county along with Baltimore County, for a reregistration of voters. The vote was 75 to 35.

The Deputy Grand Master of Masons in Virginia and past master of Columbia Lodge, No. 28, A. F. and A. M., at Clarendon, and Hugh Reid, members of the General Assembly of Virginia, are announced as among the speakers at the meeting of St. John's Lodge, No. 11, F. A. A. M., to be held tonight. The meeting has been designated as "Virginia Night."

Boy and Girl Lose Lives in Home Fire

Youth Dies in Unsuccessful Attempt at Rescue; Five Others Safe.

Bluefield, W. Va., March 26 (A.P.).—A 14-year-old boy sacrificed his life last night in an ineffectual attempt to rescue his 5-year-old niece from a burning home at Bearwallow, Va., about 40 miles from here.

The boy, Fayette Crawford, and the girl, Louise Crawford, were asleep on the second floor. The lad got out safely but, remembering Louise was still upstairs, dashed into the home. As he started out with the girl, the stairs collapsed. They were found later in the ruins, their arms clasped about each other.

Five other members of the family escaped.

UNION CAVALRYMAN DIES AT AGE OF 115

Civil War Veteran Leaves 186 Heirs, Including 14 Children and Widow.

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., March 26.—Burbridge Coleman Tranum, said to have been the oldest Union Army pensioner, died at his home near Westernport, this county, today. According to an entry in the family Bible, he was born January 1, 1816, at Richmond, Va., a son of Foster and Patsy Tiger Tranum.

His father was killed when struck on the head by the tongue of an ox cart and his mother died a few months later. After being stolen by gypsies when 13, he later escaped and joined a circus as wagon driver. Later he worked at the trades of carpenter and blacksmith and he was a sawyer in lumber camps in Western Maryland on the site of the present town of Westernport.

His first wife was Miss Sarah White, of Virginia. Twenty-one children were born of this union. They were divorced in their sixties and Tranum then married Martha E. MacMannis, of Westernport, who nursed him in his last illness. To them, twelve children were born. Fourteen of his 33 children are living. His descendants number 186.

As a member of the Second Maryland Cavalry in the Union Army he fought at Gettysburg, where his hair was singed by a bullet. He was mustered out in Baltimore in 1865. He never heard of a brother and two sisters, who became lost to him shortly after he was orphaned at 9. Tranum was an inveterate smoker, but seldom drank, and he declared he never touched liquor since prohibition came in. He was religiously inclined and read the Bible and newspapers assiduously.

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., March 26.—William Powell, 13-year-old pie vender, son of Clyde Powell, was instantly killed shortly before noon today when he was caught between the elevator and floor at the Stickell Mill, where he had gone to sell employes pies.

The youth leaped for the elevator while it was in motion. Besides his parents, six brothers and sisters survive.

13 Radio Patents Form Suit Basis

Claim in Maryland Is Said to Involve Several Million Dollars.

Baltimore, Md., March 26 (A.P.).—A patent infringement suit, said to involve several million dollars was filed in Federal District Court here today by the DeForest Radio Co. against the Radio-Victor Corporation of America.

Infringement of thirteen patents granted between 1916 and 1928 was charged and a permanent injunction asked. The Radio-Victor Corporation is a Maryland concern. The patents were alleged to be of great value to the radio industry as "without them present day broadcasting and reception would be impossible."

Specifically, infringement of thirteen patents of Lee DeForest and Charles Logwood in the structure and circuit of the RCA "Theremin," a musical instrument controlled by the waving hands of the performer, was charged.

Mayor Carroll Pierce yesterday tendered his resignation as mayor and member of council, effective April 1. As the meeting was informal the resignation was received, and no action will be taken until the next regular meeting, Thursday, April 2.

Mayor Pierce's letter to council follows:

To the Honorable City Council, Alexandria, Va.

Gentlemen: It is with regret indeed that I am compelled to tender you my resignation as a member of the council, effective April 1, 1931.

Since December last my physical condition has not been good. I have been under my doctor's care and at his advice spent a week at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, for an examination, the result of which makes it absolutely necessary for me to take this action. I hand you herewith Dr. Hugh McGuire's letter, which is self-explanatory.

I have enjoyed the work with you very much indeed and am deeply interested in the problems which now confront the council and regret that I can not continue the work. My association with each of you has been most agreeable and I shall always remember my association with you most pleasantly. Sincerely yours,

CARROLL PIERCE.

Dr. McGuire in his letter quotes a report received by him from Dr. W. T. Longcope, of Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, stressing the need of Mr. Pierce's cutting down his work particularly, and expresses fear of his condition if he continues to work under the strain to which he has been accustomed.

Mayor Pierce was elected by the members of council to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mayor William Albert Smoot, on March 11, 1930.

While no action was taken by council yesterday afternoon at the informal meeting, it is expected that Mr. Ticer will be selected to fill the place of mayor, as he has been a member of council since the new form of government went into effect in 1922, and had served in the common council, when the city government was composed of two bodies, common council with 16 members, and board of aldermen with 8 members, and as vice mayor under Mayor Pierce, has been the presiding officer recently, since Mayor Pierce has been under observation by his physician.

Council now is composed of the following: Edmund F. Ticer, Thomas J. Fannon, Arthur Herbert and Clyde C. Lamond, and upon these falls the duty of selecting a member to fill the unexpired term of Mayor Pierce, who was serving the unexpired term of Mayor Smoot. No names have been suggested for the vacancy.

The funeral of Nicholas Lincoln, known as "Nick the Iceman," was held yesterday afternoon from Wheatley's Funeral Home, conducted by the Rev. Pierce S. Ellis, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and burial was in Bethel Cemetery. A funeral was made possible by the contributions received after notice was printed that Mr. Lincoln had died a pauper, although he had made money and given it away to any one asking for help. A grave in Bethel Cemetery was given by George L. Nalls, of the 600 block South Fairfax street. Over 1,000 people visited Wheatley's Chapel and viewed the body in the three days it was there.

Three Baltimore people, giving the names of Mrs. Bertha Hemmett, 2633 Guilford avenue; Mrs. Elizabeth Hall and Raymond Hall, 2809 Winchester street, were slightly injured about 3 o'clock yesterday morning when the car in which they were riding, driven by Harry E. Martin, 2816 Woodbrook avenue, Baltimore, was struck by an automobile driven by Ezekiel Beverly, of the 1400 block First street northwest, Washington. All were treated at the Alexandria Hospital, but were not sufficiently injured to be kept in that institution. John H. Scott of 2633 Guilford avenue, and Arthur Hall, of 2806 Winchester street, were also in the car.

Beverly was arrested and fined $25 and costs for colliding.

The funeral of Miss Flora Dyer, 16 years old, who died on Wednesday at the Alexandria Hospital from injuries received last Saturday, when the automobile in which she was riding crashed into a horse-drawn vehicle, will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon from Cunningham's funeral home, 809 Cameron street, conducted by the Rev. Ryland T. Dodge, pastor of the Baptist Temple. Burial will be in Ivy Hill Cemetery.

Dr. T. Marshall Jones, city coroner, states he will hold an inquest at 7 o'clock tomorrow night at police headquarters to investigate the circumstances attending the death of Miss Dyer.

Mrs. Llewellyn F. Dyson has been elected president of the junior board of the Anne Lee Memorial Home; Mrs. Harry D. Kirk, vice president; Mrs. Sue R. Perry, secretary; Mrs. W. Milton Glasgow, treasurer, and Mrs. Francis H. Pannon, historian. Mrs. Richard B. English, the retiring president, gave her report for the past year, at a meeting held last night, and installed the new officers.

DEMOCRATIC BLOC PLANS FOR MEETING

Antiorganization Faction to Convene in Montgomery County April 10.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4206.

A mass meeting of antiorganization Democrats of Montgomery County will be held April 10 at 8 p. m., at the Manor Club, Norbeck, it was announced yesterday by Edward Peter, Rockville lawyer, who is titular head of the faction.

The meeting has been called to permit discussion of the legislation enacted at the present session of the General Assembly of Maryland by members of the Progressive Democratic party, also known as the antiorganization faction. It is expected that Walter W. Dawson, Republican member of the county delegation to the House of Delegates, will be asked to speak. Delegate Dawson recently attacked the act to permit the county to take advantage of the Cramton bill for county park funds as a moneymaking scheme for several real estate dealers and it was largely through the coalition of Republican and Progressives that he was elected.

Other speakers of prominence are expected to address the meeting, which is counted upon by the Progressives to offset the demonstration held by organization Democrats Tuesday night at the Bethesda-Chevy Chase High School.

It is probable that the future of the Progressive party will be decided at the meeting. If it is decided that it has outlived its usefulness, it is probable that another organization will be outlined and formed to carry on the work of the faction. The question of financial support also will be discussed.

Since there were but four opponents of the project present at a public hearing held Wednesday night, the special committee considering the zoning of Rockville will recommend to Mayor J. Roger Spates that the ordinance be adopted by the town fathers. The committee includes Donald A. De Lashmutt, Julian W. Whiting and Porter G. Ward.

It was pointed out that since the widening of the main thoruoghfare incident to construction of the new county courthouse and other changes in the town will make decided changes in the outlook of the town proper zoning should be prepared at once.

Presentation of a photograph of Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, was the principal feature of a Maryland Day celebration at Glenmont School. The picture was presented by Mrs. Raymond C. Hill, of Glenmont. Donald Bowie, jr., of Aspen, made the presentation speech on behalf of Mrs. Hill.

Accidental Blast Kills 2 Workers; 10 Hurt

Covington, Va., March 26 (A.P.).—An accidental explosion of dynamite today killed two Negro workmen and injured ten or more others, several of them seriously in the new tunnel being bored for the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway under the main range of the Allegheny Mountains between Virginia and West Virginia.

Statements obtained from some of the injured workmen, who were taken to a hospital at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and the Railroad Hospital at Clifton Forge, Va., indicated that a charge of dynamite failed to go off after being placed and that the explosion occurred when drilling was being done to place a second charge on top of it.

Asserting that she was too young to marry when she went through a ceremony at Upper Marlboro, Md., February 14, Edna Bernadette Peacock, 16 years old, through her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Saur, yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to annul her marriage to Albert L. Peacock.

Mrs. Marelle Brooks Succumbs in Florida

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., March 26.—Word has been received here of the death in St. Petersburg, Fla., of Mrs Marelle Davis Brooks, daughter of the late Prof. Noah K. Davis, for years head of the chair of moral philosophy at the University of Virginia. The body has been placed in a vault, but will be brought here later and interred in University Cemetery.

Mrs. Brooks is survived by one sister, Miss Clara Bell Davis, and two brothers, N. Wilson Davis, of Harrisonburg, Va., and Archibald H. Davis, of Atlanta, Ga. After the death of her husband, Walter Edgerton Brooks, in Elyria, Ohio, Mrs. Brooks resided for a time in this city before going to Florida.

Man Who Shot Woman Put Under Observation

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., March 26.—William F. Keck, 65, who wounded Miss Eliza Huey, 22, of Toccoa, Ga., in a hotel room here last Sunday, was committed to the State Asylum today by Judge Henry C. Leight, of the Corporation Court, for observation.

This was done on motion of defense counsel, who raised the plea of insanity, and after two doctors appointed by the court had expressed the opinion that Keck is unbalanced. He was to have been given a preliminary hearing tomorrow. The wounded woman, now recovering, is in a detention room, unable to give bond as a material witness.

HYATTSVILLE SEEKS COUNTY STRUCTURE

Bill Providing for Housing of Government Agencies Is Introduced.

The bill to provide for a county building in Hyattsville to house the Police Court and other government agencies was introduced in the House of Delegates yesterday by the Prince Georges County delegation.

The measure does not provide for the construction of a building, but authorizes the county commissioners to lease a suitable structure at a rate not to exceed $500 a month. The building will be known as the Metropolitan District Building.

The bill states that the structure shall be used to house the Police Court and for other purposes, and that it shall contain offices for rent to such bodies as the Washington Sanitary Commission and the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission. Headquarters of the Sanitary Commission are already in Hyattsville in their own building, but the office of the Park and Planning Commission is in Washington.

The bill authorizing the Park and Planning Commission to draw up a building code for the metropolitan area was also introduced yesterday, providing for a fine of $300 for violation of the code. It will apply to all new buildings, alterations and extensions. The commission already has jurisdiction over new construction of more than a certain size and cost, but it has no control over erection of such structures such as barbecue stands and the temporary fireworks stands just outside the District line.

The new county building in Hyattsville will probably house the full-time police precinct provided for in the new police bill if both of them pass. Whether or not it will contain a jail to replace the present Bladensburg Jail is doubtful. The building most likely to be taken over by the county is the old bank building, and residents in the neighborhood would probably object to using part of this as a lock-up. At the same time the present jail, with its record of eight escaped prisoners in three months, is not likely to be used much longer.

Some opposition to the Hyattsville building has been voiced by persons in the lower part of the county, who fear that the establishment of a branch may be a preliminary to moving the courthouse from Marlboro. Such a move is not contemplated, however, it is said.

Three complaints against proposed action of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad in abolishing the station agent at Riverdale have been sent to the Maryland Public Service Commission by the Chamber of Commerce of Hyattsville, the Town Council of Riverdale, and the Riverdale Women's Club. The commission has not yet set a date for a hearing on the request, but one will probably be held before April 20, the date when the change has been designated to go into effect.

The Hyattsville Chamber of Commerce voted against the railroad's action on the ground that the gate tender in Riverdale would also have to attend to the mail if the station agent is removed. This would mean, the claim says, that traffic would be blocked while he took care of the mail. All freight for Riverdale under the new plan would be sent to Hyattsville. The chamber voted to send a letter to the Public Service Commission. A letter was also sent by the women's organization, but the Town Council of Riverdale not only filed a protest, but appointed a committee to oppose the railroad's action.

Countering a request from some residents of Berwyn Heights that the charter of the town be canceled, a petition from the community has been sent to the Prince Georges delegation in the Legislature, asking that the charter be retained. Circulators of the petition say that they have more names than were attached to the request for cancellation.

It is felt by some that it would lower taxes to do away with the town government and allow the county to keep up the roads. At present, 75 per cent of the road tax is returned to incorporated towns for the upkeep of streets within the boundaries.

Three petitions in zoning changes in the county, one in Beltsville, one in Hollywood and one on Sargent road near Chillum, will be heard by the county commissioners during April. One of them has been approved by the Park and Planning Commission, one has been disapproved and one has not been acted on.

The commission has approved the application of the Beltsville Land Improvement Co. for the change from class A residential to class D commercial of eighteen lots and a 3½-acre tract in Beltsville. The lots are along Maryland avenue, between Talbot avenue and the county road, and the other plot is between the Baltimore & Ohio tracks and the Baltimore boulevard. This hearing will be on April 14 at 2 o'clock before the county commissioners.

A similar change has been asked for several acres near Chillum by William H. Heitmuller, which the commission has declined to approve. This hearing will also be on April 14 at the same time.

The third application for a zoning change asks that J. C. Stewart be permitted to erect tourist cabins and a sandwich shop on the tract in Hollywood, which also contains his gasoline station. He wants to put up ten tourist cabins on the property. The Park and Planning Commission has given no decision on this case, but the hearing before the county commissioners will be held April 28.

Pershing Will Speak At Sesquicentennial

Richmond, Va., March 26 (A.P.).—Acceptance by Gen. John J. Pershing of an invitation to speak at the Yorktown Sesquicentennial on October 17 was announced here tonight by Representative S. Otis Bland, secretary of the United States Yorktown Sesquicentennial Commission.

This announcement followed one earlier in the day from the State Department at Washington that the principal members of the families of Von Steuben, Lafayette and Rochambeau will be invited officially by the Federal Government to attend the celebration and will have their expenses paid out of the congressional appropriation.

Two Sue Nickle Cab Co.

James Hannon, of 2214 Tunlaw road northwest, and Edward Jennings, of 2310 Thirty-seventh street, yesterday brought suit against the Nickel Cab Co., for $50,000 damages. They claim, in a suit filed by Aubrey Bogley and Caesar L. Aiello, that they were passengers in an automobile that collided with a cab company machine at Thirteenth street and Spring road northwest. Each seeks $25,000.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

BATTLING DREISER VERSUS "RED" (KID) LEWIS

(Theodore Dreiser slapped Sinclair Lewis at a recent dinner given by Ray Long, magazine editor. Complete accounts of what actually happened have been lacking. Elmer Twitchell, who was present as a waiter, gives the following detailed story of the affair.)

MR. LEWIS arrived first and made a brief speech thanking Mr. Long for giving the dinner in his honor. Mr. Long explained that the dinner was not in his honor. This seemed to upset Mr. Lewis, who sat down and began glaring at various guests.

"Look at Theodore Dreiser over there! He stole 3,000 pages from my wife's book!" he exclaimed.

"That's not Dreiser you're glaring at. It's Irvin Cobb," corrected Mr. Twitchell, as he served the soup.

"My error, I thought Cobb always carried a fishing rod and a rifle," said Lewis, who then walked over to another guest and said, "You stole 3,000 pages from my book's wife, you big Dreiser you!"

"I'm not Dreiser. I'm O. O. McIntyre," replied this guest, who seemed fairly certain of his facts. "What Dreiser are you looking for, Fritz Dreiser, the violinist?"

"I want the one who stole 3,000 wives from my wife's pages," said Mr. Lewis in broken Swedish.

NOBODY paid much attention to Mr. Lewis as they were all rather occupied in literary pursuits. Heywood Broun was showing Laurence Stallinga the proper way to use the rabbit punch. Arthur Brisbane was wrestling over in a corner with Burton Rascoe, and Mr Long was shadow boxing behind a potted plant. Suddenly Joe Humphreys, who was presiding as toastmaster, went through the usual preliminary of asking everybody to stand in silent meditation as a tribute to Lindbergh and then called on George Bernard Shaw for a speech.

Mr. Lewis responded immediately. "He stole 3,000 books from my wife's library," charged Mr. Lewis in his opening remarks, and "America has no literary standards. It starves its authors. Three cheers for Stockholm!"

"It gripes you!" exclaimed a Times critic.

"Stark realism! Truly an epic work!" gasped a Post man.

Well, Mr. Lewis continued for about fifteen minutes, and nothing more was thought about his remarks until after dessert when Mr. Dreiser tapped Mr. Lewis on the shoulder and asked, "Are you the Sinclair Lewis who went to Princeton and wrote 'Barriers Burned Away' and 'Uncle Tom's Cabin'?"

"Who are you?" demanded Lewis, reddening easily.

"I'm George Bernard Shaw, the man you just accused of stealing 3,000 book-ends from the wife of the King of Sweden or something," was the reply.

"Glad to meet you," said Mr. Lewis.

"We must have lunch together some day," said Mr. Dreiser.

"If you're ever in the Scandinavian country drop in and see me," said Mr. Lewis.

"The most moving dialogue since Dumas!" exclaimed a New York Herald Tribune critic.

* * * *

AT THIS point a head waiter clapped his hands twice to attract the attention of a waiter who was asking Irvin Cobb to autograph an 11-pound bass for him. The sound startled the literary lights, who cried almost unanimously, "I've been struck!" Several, in fact, showed bruises.

Mr. Long, rising to the occasion, decided that for purposes of advertising the man who had really been struck was Sinclair Lewis, and that Theodore Dreiser was "winner and still champeen."

Both boys were signed for a return bout in the open air. Mr. Lewis issued a statement accusing Calvin Coolidge, the essayist, of stealing 3,000 pages from his wife's book or something.

EVIDENCE.

Spring is here! I know the proof:
The lambins in the park are clowning—
And tabloid headlines now proclaim
"Schoolgirl Seeks Coin From Daddy Browning."

YOU have to be careful in traveling about New York these days to avoid being hit by a falling magistrate.

Elmer Twitchell knows a promising young boxer who is anxious to get in the preliminaries at Ray Long's next bouts.

Sinclair Lewis got the Nobel prize, but it would seem that Theodore Dreiser has won the Midoon trophy.

A man whose club hit his wife on the golf course says it was an accident, the big coward!
